Pound Sterling In Wide Swings On Exchange Marts

At New York British Currency Closes Day at $4.33, Which Is Six Cents Below Yesterday's Figure

Canadian Dollar

Closes at 91 3-8

Canadian Press and Associated Press

New York, June 29.—Flooded with rumors regarding an imminent currency stabilization agreement, the pound sterling declined sharply on the New York foreign exchange market to-day and closed six cents below yesterday's figure.

The Canadian dollar eased 1/2 of a cent. The closing rate was at 89 1/2 discount, or 91 3/8 cents.

The dollar's fluctuations were somewhat irregular. At the opening it advanced to 91 1/2, a new high, as sterling declined, but later fell in line and dipped to 91 1/4 cents before steadying to the closing rate.

The pound closed at $4.33, down six cents, the lowest rate of the day. Reports from London said meetings had been held between British and United States gold bloc representatives to discuss new stabilization proposals.

AT MONTREAL

Montreal, June 29.—Following the trend of outside markets, the pound sterling dipped sharply on the Montreal exchange market to-day. The United States dollar fluctuated narrowly.

Union Representatives Interview New Dominion Authority on Relief Matters

Unemployment relief contributions towards municipalities in British Columbia will be maintained on the present scale until future action is decided upon, representatives of the executive of the Union of Municipalities were informed this morning by Col. D. W. B. Spry, of the Dominion Department of Labor, who is replacing the Fordham commission in this province.

Final action, the delegation was informed, will be given after Col. Spry has submitted a report on the provincial situation to Dominion authorities.

The delegation, headed by Reeve William Crouch, president of the union, protested strongly against the physical examination which the federal officials had instituted before accepting single men for relief camps. This examination, it was claimed, had resulted in the rejection of about a third of those who applied to go into the camps. Under

New York, June 29.—A Canadian government bond issue of $60,000,000 was quickly disposed of on the market here to-day. It consisted of Dominion of Canada 15-month 4 per cent notes due October 1, 1934, at 99 1/4. A syndicate headed by the Chase National Bank, offered the notes this morning.

The $60,000,000 bond issue completes Canada's external loan refunding for 1933. There are several internal issues falling due this fall, which will be covered by the proposed conversion loan, which will be announced in the early fall.

During the last session of Parliament, the government was authorized to negotiate a loan totalling $750,000,000, much of which, it is understood, will be in the form of conversion at a

INJURED MAN IS IMPROVING

Raymond C. Roberts, Tacoma, Progressing After Serious Motor Accident

Car Crashes Into Side of Tree While Trying to Avoid Pedestrian in Oak Bay

Condition of Raymond C. Roberts, prominent Tacoma business man, who was critically injured yesterday afternoon when an automobile in which he was a passenger crashed into an oak tree on Oak Bay Avenue, was reported as greatly improved at the Jubilee Hospital this morning after he had regained consciousness. Mr. Roberts is suffering from a compound fracture of the skull, according to Dr. A. D. Bechtel, who is attending him.

Enoch Alexson, 728 Sixth Avenue, Tacoma, was the driver of the car, and the two were returning to the Oak Bay Golf Club after Mr. Roberts had missed the Seattle boat, according to the story told by the police.

CLUTCHED STEERING WHEEL

Proceeding east on Oak Bay Avenue the car was traveling behind a street car which stopped to allow a passenger to alight at Oliver Street. Mr. Roberts, who was sitting in the front seat with the driver, clutched the wheel to avoid hitting the pedestrian, Mr. Alexson said, and in doing so swerved the car to the side of the avenue where it struck the tree, situated just east of Oliver Street.

Chief Snyne and Constable R. M. Smith of the Oak Bay police attended and had both men removed to the Jubilee Hospital in the C. & C. ambulance. Mr. Alexson suffered head bruises and neck.

The car sheered off the tree, according to police, and was seriously damaged, although not beyond repair. The bark on the side of the tree was shaved off. The accident occurred between 4:30 and 5 o'clock.

CONDITION CRITICAL

Mr. Roberts's condition was described as very critical by Dr. Bechtel this morning, but it was stated the patient had made remarkable recovery during the night.

Mr. Roberts is thirty-five years of age and is well known in Tacoma. He is the deputy prosecutor, attorney for Pierce County, a former president of the Tacoma Baseball League, a member of the Piret Golf Club and one of the organizers of the Tacoma Golf Association. He has a wife and a four-year-old son residing at 3812 South Seventh Street, Tacoma.

ALAN TAYLOR PLAYS BRILLIANT GOLF TO LEAD CHAMPION 6 UP

Young Oak Bay Golfer Giving Chandler Egan Hot Match in P.N.W. Tournament; Willing Has Lead on Ken Black

Alan Taylor, champion of the Victoria Golf Club, sprang the big surprise of the Pacific Northwest Golf Association championship at Oak Bay this morning, when he secured a lead of 5 up on Chandler Egan, Medford, Ore., at the end of the first round in their thirty-six hole match in the quarter-finals. Taylor, son of Phil Taylor, Oak Bay pro, turned in a spectacular performance to gain his big margin over the defending champion.

Ken Black, Vancouver, holder of the British Columbia open and amateur crowns, and with Taylor the only Canadian left in the championship flight, found the stroking of Dr. O. F. Willing, Seattle veteran, too much for him, and went to lunch 5 down to the former United States Walker Cup player.

CAMPBELL 2 UP

"Scotty" Campbell, Seattle, tournament medalist, had secured a 2 up advantage on his fellow townsman Johnny Shields, while in another all-Seattle battle, Lee Steel was 6 up on Paul Murphy.

The second eighteen holes are being played this afternoon, with the thirty-six hole semi-finals to-morrow and the final over the same distance on Saturday.

The Taylor-Egan match saw the young Victorian put Egan in a tough spot at the start. After losing the first hole and halving the second, Taylor squared matters at the third with a birdie 3. A string of pars and birdies won Taylor the next four holes for a lead of 4 up. The eighth was halved in three with Taylor taking the ninth with a par 3 to be 5 up at the turn. Taylor was around in 32 to Egan's 37.

MILLS RAISE PAY IN JULY

Alberni-Pacific and Great Central Sawmills Announce Straight Wage Increases

More Men Given Employment With Increased Demand For Forest Products

Port Alberni, June 29.—Operators of both the Alberni Pacific Lumber Company and Great Central Sawmills have officially informed employees that commencing July 1 a straight 10 per cent increase in wages will go into effect.

This is not a bonus for one month's trial, as is the case at other mills in the province, but is to be permanent.

During all the depression period in the lumber industry, the Alberni Pacific Lumber Company continued to pay higher wages than any other mill or logging operator in the province, so that the present 10 per cent increase means more in Port Alberni than in other lumbering centres.

The Alberni Pacific Lumber Company is also adding equipment in the form of a new turbine, the purchase of which is now being negotiated with the B.C. Electric Railway Company.

That the market for cedar shingles is on the upgrade is evidenced in the fact that this week the local shingle mill of the Alberni Pacific Lumber Company went on double shift and increased its number of employees.

Two million feet of cedar for this mill has been purchased from Great Central Sawmills, and is being brought down to tidewater here over the lines of the E. & N. Railway. The first trainload of twenty-two cars arrived on Monday and will continue at regular intervals until the whole order is filled and in the water at the mill boom grounds.

Shipping continues brisk.

PRINCE RUPERT IS LOOKING FOR BETTER TIMES

Leslie Fox Finds People There Convinced They Have Turned Corner to Prosperity; Fish Prices Are Up and Town Had Its Best Shopping Day for Many Months on June 17; New Card Game.

BY LESLIE FOX

Special Representative of The Victoria Times

Aboard Ss. Prince George, June 21.—With fish prices higher, an increase in the number of men engaged in the business and mineral developments going ahead in the interior, Prince Rupert is expecting "pretty good times by September."

This was the opinion of H. F. Pullen, managing editor of The Prince Rupert Daily News, expressed to-day when the C.N.R. cruise boat called there.

Watching the economic index closely in his publishing business, Mr. Pullen is convinced that in the northern town the corner to prosperity has been turned, and the course ahead is a straightaway. Last Saturday was the best shopping day the town has had for many months.

Because it exists largely as a fishing centre, the fish trade will bring better times to the town. For spring salmon the men are getting seven and a half cents a pound, against five cents last year, a 50 per cent increase in price. And there are 1,500 trollers operating out of the port, it is estimated.

The sockeye season opened on Monday night, and the price quoted is forty cents a fish, as compared with thirty cents last year, even after the men had struck against a twenty-seven cent rate.

The halibut fishermen are also doing well with the basic price raised from three and a half to two cents to five to three cents. The average catches, according to figures just compiled, run $60 a man for two trips a month. The top boat to date recorded a catch netting $135 a man on an eight-day trip, and they went right back and made a similar haul within four days.

These are the major factors in lowering the unemployment index which has shown better than the seasonal decrease.

Because the life in these northern waters depends on fish, the gigantic cold storage plant here was the greenest point of interest for the steamer tourists. Operated by the Canadian Fish and Cold Storage Company, this plant is claimed to be the largest in the world devoted exclusively to the handling of fish, with a capacity of 14,000,000 pounds. The records show that 30,000,000 pounds of halibut a

ARBUCKLE OF MOVIES DIES

Rotund Comedian Succumbs to Heart Attack in New York

Canadian Press

New York, June 29.—Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle, bulky comedian of the films, died early to-day of a heart attack that followed a celebration of the first anniversary of his third marriage. He was forty-five years old.

The actor, who had been attempting a "comeback" from the blight that fell on his career as the result of the mysterious death of an actress during a gay party in 1921, died in his sleep in his suite in a midtown hotel.

His wife, the former Edna Purcell, screen actress, discovered the death. After summoning the house physician, she became hysterical from grief.

Physicians said Arbuckle had died of angina pectoris.

Arbuckle completed a picture, "Tallalo," yesterday at a Long Island studio. It was one of six he had recently done for Warner Brothers. After dinner yesterday evening, he went with his wife to the apartment of William LeBaron, restaurateur, where a party was given in honor of the Arbuckle's anniversary.

After the party Arbuckle retired, apparently in fairly good health despite recent attacks of a heart ailment. A few moments later, however, his wife

General Chairmen of Unions, in Conference in Ottawa To-day, Near End of Their Discussion

Wage Question Is One For Settlement

Men Say Further Conferences With Company Heads Would Be Futile; All Canada Involved

Canadian Press

Ottawa, June 29.—Indications late this afternoon were that a strike vote would be taken among the members of the running trades of the Canadian railways, but some days must elapse before this is done.

The conference of vice-presidents and general chairmen of the Canadian railway labor unions continued, with prospects it would adjourn some time to-day.

Authority to distribute a strike ballot was given to-day from the grand officers of the telegraphers and conductors, but the purpose of the adjournment would be to get the matter before the general committee prior to drawing up a ballot.

The action of the men's spokesmen is prompted by the putting into effect of a 10 per cent reduction in the basic wage rates of the employees concerned. This, added to the 10 per cent cut made last year, would reduce the wages of these workmen by 20 per cent from the basic rates.

YESTERDAY'S CONFERENCE

A meeting here yesterday with Hon. W. A. Gordon, Minister of Labor, as chairman, at which the proposed wage reduction was discussed by company officials and representatives of the men, ended in a deadlock. Union officers then took under adjournment

GOAL DEBATE AT DEADLOCK

British Compromise Discussed By World Conference Delegates in London

It Is Offered as Result of Ultimatum From France and Its Supporters

Canadian Press and Associated Press

London, June 29.—An eagerly awaited British compromise plan for solution of the stabilization crisis of the World Economic Conference was headed overboard in a meeting this evening with European gold bloc countries, and responsibility for a way out was laid on Washington's doorstep.

The British and the representatives of the gold bloc decided to appeal to Washington for assistance in overcoming the stabilization problem.

The British compromise had been offered to meet an ultimatum by the gold standard nations, headed by France, which demanded a stabilization of the price of their remaining in the conference.

The British compromise had been offered to meet an ultimatum by the gold standard nations, headed by France, which demanded a stabilization of the price of their remaining in the conference.

AT EVENING MEETING

This plan was scheduled for discussion at a meeting this evening between representatives of the gold standard countries and Great Britain. In gold bloc quarters it was said a representative of the United States delegation also was expected to be there, but the United States headquarters said it had heard nothing about an American attending.

Assistant Secretary of State Raymond Moley created a sensation in conference lobbies by suddenly making his first appearance and entering a British conference among Prime Minister MacDonald, Rt. Hon. Walter Runciman, President of the Board of Trade, Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, and Sir Frederick Leithrope of the treasury.

James P. Warburg, financial adviser to the United States delegation, and Charles Eliot, famous Bank of France economist, also joined the group.

RECONCILIATION ATTEMPT

It was assumed this important meeting was discussing the British compromise plan. This scheme was understood to be an attempt to reconcile the conflicting policies of countries still on gold and those which abandoned that standard. The plan was said to offer a measure of support to the gold-countries which the British feel sufficient to overcome the crisis.

Associated Press

FRENCH ULTIMATUM

London, June 29.—An ultimatum couched in courteous terms was presented to Great Britain to take action at the World Economic Conference, by four European gold standard countries to-day, it was learned on high authority.

France, Switzerland, Holland and Belgium demanded Great Britain act immediately to calm the uneasiness over the Dutch florin and Swiss franc, and French franc of the gold bloc would be forced to leave the conference in self-protection. It was learned in gold bloc quarters.

Gold standard countries led by Finance Minister Georges Bonnet of France, were understood authoritatively to have told Mr. MacDonald the sole cause of the conference so far had been to shake confidence in their currencies and that it behooved the British government to take some step to end this predicament.

STATEMENT DESIRED

The gold bloc wants Great Britain to make a unilateral statement of its willingness to maintain sterling at the present level and to offer the aid of the Bank of England to the gold bloc or the four countries to take action to stabilize the currencies.

It was further understood a time limit was set by the bloc in which the British government was to take action or the four countries will cease to participate in the conference.

The bloc, it was said, told the Prime Minister that withdrawal of all ministers and important experts, but to leave a few secretaries in London to watch what went on.

France and her gold allies opened double-barrelled pressure on Britain after talking with Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, one by one, yesterday.

Central bank representatives met with Bank of England officials at the Bank of England, while government representatives saw the Prime Minister. The bankers were discussing the possible text of a statement it was said Britain might make to satisfy the gold standard nations.

Off the United States stabilizes the dollar we would settle the pound," the British are said to have told the gold foursome.

Doubts were expressed by experts in the lobby that the pound could keep a marriage contract with the franc should Britain say "yes" to the gold bloc. The rapidly falling United States dollar they said would force divorce between the pound and franc.

This is the second time the gold nations have threatened the life of the conference and members of the bloc said they were fully aware that the conference was facing its gravest crisis.

NO U.S. ACTION

Washington, June 29.—Dean Acheson, Under-Secretary of the United States Treasury, told reporters today no action was being considered in Washington regarding stabilization of the dollar and nothing had been done in this respect since President Roosevelt rejected the temporary stabilization proposal forwarded from the London conference some days ago.

Nanaimo, June 29.—South Wellington defeated Nanaimo Park Rangers 2 to 1 in the Nanaimo Cup series last night. Gogach gave Wellington the lead after thirty-five minutes. The visitors led 1 to 0 at the interval. Watson increased the lead after Rangers missed a penalty. Hills scored the Rangers lone tally from a corner kick.

Los Angeles, June 29.—After all this fuss over a baby and divorce rumors and claims at Angelus Temple, Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton is going home quietly to settle down after her latest fling at globe trotting. At least that is the report of her husband, David, who, it may be recalled, was in considerable of a writer less than a year ago.

He added that Mrs. McPherson Hutton had given birth to a baby in a Paris hospital. Aimee, said Dave simply, "is coming home in about two weeks," having shown remarkable recuperative powers after an operation that is now generally understood to have been plastic and not obstetrical.

He said that Mrs. McPherson Hutton herself had announced her plans in a personal private message to him.

VOYAGES TO FRANCE

The husband of the evangelist fumed a few days ago because she had been away from him for so long. He said that she had been on a tour through temple headquarters.

But right on the heels of the peace and quiet which pervaded the rumors and announcement that Roberts Semple Smythe, daughter of Mrs. McPherson Hutton, had sailed for Paris from New York yesterday. That, admitted Dave, was a fresh mystery, a disconcerting mystery. It was so disconcerting, in fact, that he decided to ask a questioner into talking again about marital rifts right when the baby and divorce rumors and claims and all had begun to fade out of the picture.

IS SENTENCED ON DRUG COUNT

Chinese Steward on Ss. Bencho Given Year and $300 Fine For Smuggling

New Westminster, June 29.—Declaring the entire matter looked like a wholesale proposition for handling of illicit goods, Judge W. H. Hovey in County Court here yesterday, sentenced Wei Kwang B. Yang, former steward on the British freighter Bencho, to twelve months imprisonment and a $300 fine, the alternative to the fine being an additional six months imprisonment.

Yang pleaded guilty to illegal possession of opium and had been charged with smuggling opium on board the ship June 13 at Fraser Mills. The value of the seized goods is placed at $10,000.

A document found in the cabin of the ship seemed to bear out the suggestion of a wholesale proposition, said Judge Hovey. The prisoner was an intelligent, well-dressed Chinese, and it was not a case of dealing with an illiterate, uneducated foreigner, said the judge.

The paper referred to was of opium and packages of heroin, said Sergeant John Healey, who conducted the search of the vessel. It was found beneath a letter in the steward's cabin.

The Chinese was arrested in the ship here when he proceeded to Victoria.

The nature of the operation was not stated. Mr. Hoadley was taken ill shortly after he had arrived in Vancouver Wednesday morning and was removed to his hotel to the hospital. He had intended spending a few days on the coast, including a visit to Victoria.

J. F. SMITH'S CALLED BY DEATH

Canadian Fruit Trade Commissioner in Britain For Lengthy Period

Canadian Press

London, June 29.—J. Forsyth Smith, Canadian fruit trade commissioner in London, died today after an operation for appendicitis.

ENERGETIC WORKER

Ottawa, June 29.—"A dynamo of energy" was how executive officials of the civil service characterized J. Forsyth Smith, whose death in London was reported here today. He had been Canadian fruit commissioner in the United Kingdom for many years.

Mr. Smith's activities were confined exclusively to fruit, and his great energy was used in building up for the Canadian growers a permanent market overseas.

His appointment was made during the regime of the former government. Prior to that he had been engaged in the same task in Alberta and the prairie provinces for the British Columbia Government.

He was an old newspaperman and had for many years been editor of the Vernon, B.C., News.

Otto H. Kahn Tells U.S. Senators of Custom Which Eases Income Levy

Associated Press

Washington, June 29.—United States Senate investigators were told today that the United States Government had granted Otto H. Kahn an income tax reduction in 1930 on stock sales without knowledge it had been sold to his daughter.

Earlier, the senior partner of Kuhn, Loeb and Company, New York banking house, had testified securities he had sold in 1930 for $117,000 were resold three months later, though the exchange was dated the following day.

Mr. Kahn agreed to statements by Ferdinand Pecora, committee counsel, that the field agent of the internal revenue bureau had held the transaction was a "wash sale" without knowing the stock was sold to his daughter.

The field agent, Pecora said, reported the sales had been made on the open market.

Mr. Kahn asserted Congress would perform a "great service" if it would find a means to regulate speculation.

He told the investigators he had paid a foreign income tax in 1930 when he paid home.

Mr. Kahn said he paid a $4,480 foreign tax in 1930, and "assumed" it was in England.

CHANGE IN LAW

Mr. Kahn said sale of stocks at the end of the tax year was "sort of an annual custom." He recommended to the Senate investigators repeal of the capital gains clause of the federal tax law.

Mr. Kahn said the clause made the government "gamble" on the prosperity of the United States and caused the market to be depressed at the end of the year.

Senator Barkley, Kentucky Democrat, said Mr. Kahn was the first witness to tell of "bear raids" on the market.

Mr. Kahn said he could not remember how often he had sold stock at the end of a year or whether he had bought the stock back each time.

Mr. Kahn said the stocks were sold to his daughter for a loss of $117,000, which he deducted in making out his income tax return.

FAVORED LIST

Charles E. Mitchell and Percy A. Rockefeller were listed among persons the Senate investigators were told today had been invited to share in profits from floating securities issued by Kuhn, Loeb and Company.

called to him, received no answer and then discovered he was dead.

PIE-TOSSING DAYS

Arbuckle became known to millions the world over in the palm days of pie-tossing comedy.

He was reaping a fortune when in 1921 the death of Virginia Rappe, screen actress, followed a party in Arbuckle's suite in a San Francisco hotel. He was tried and finally acquitted in the case.

With his fortune depleted by the fight to acquittal, he remained in obscurity ten years. In the last two years he made a few short comedies, but the screen fame he once enjoyed in the silent movies did not return.

STARTED ON STAGE

A pickaninny's role was Arbuckle's introduction to the stage. When he was eight years old, Frank Bacon's stock company engaged him for a bit. After entering vaudeville in 1913, he was given a tryout by Mack Sennett. He spent four years playing for Sennett and during that period he acted with Mabel Normand, Chester Conklin, Charles Chaplin and Ford Sterling. He was married three times. His first wife, Iota Durfee, died during the dark days that followed the disclosures in the Rappe case. Later they were divorced and he married Doris Deane. Divorce ended that union. Last June he married Addie McPhail.

BRITAIN TO GET SOVIET LUMBER

Canadian Press

London, June 29.—Soviet interest in the importation of lumber from Canada were perturbed to-day over the announcement the Board of Trade has issued licenses for the importation of 40,000 standard Russian timber.

It is understood applications have also been made for licenses to import another 50,000 standards.

It is explained that timber imports are not affected by the British embargo on Russian trade because substantial payments on account were made by the importers before the embargo went into effect.

TRINIDAD STORM CAUSE OF DEATHS

Canadian Press

Port of Spain, Trinidad, June 29.—Scenes of death and destruction were described to-day as repaired communication lines brought first reports from southern Trinidad of havoc wrought by Tuesday night's hurricane.

The howling storm lashed the coast all Tuesday night and blew itself out Wednesday, leaving behind it a trail of telegraph and telephone links, unroofed houses and broken oilfield derricks. Several drownings were reported as small boats foundered. A number of people were injured when trees were uprooted.

In reply to this, Col. Spry stated the Dominion Government would pay the cost of these rejected applicants on municipal relief.

Whether or not federal contributions of one-third will be made to other than the fifteen municipalities in the province now contributing on the old basis, Col. agreement, providing its conditions are met.

While three states already have definitely said no, in two of those three there has been some moderation in attitude in the last two days, and there is some hope all three may be brought around to the agreement.

BASIS FOR CALCULATION

The Australian conditions are highly technical and very complex. One of them in particular sets certain production figures as the basis for calculating a fifteen per cent restriction.

Mr. Bruce is understood to have told the conference that while he feared he might have given an impression of unreasonableness in the previous discussion as to the necessity of bringing European countries into the agreement, it is not exactly clear just how the Australians wish the European countries to be approached—whether they will insist on the import quota principle or how much they are to be asked to restrict their production. These two questions were to be gone into.

MEAL TAX IS TO BE TESTED

Victoria Barrister Wants Vancouver Magistrate to Rule It Out

Canadian Press
Vancouver, June 29.—Validity of the Hospitals Aid Act, under which the provincial government for the last few months has imposed taxes on meals, will be tested July 6 before Magistrate J. A. Findlay in the Vancouver police court.

The test case arises out of the refusal of P. C. Elliott of Victoria, to pay a tax of 14 cents due on the price of four meals for which he paid at the new Good Gate Cafe on West Pender Street, June 6 last.

The total of the four bills paid by Mr. Elliott was $2.70, on which it is alleged in the information, 14 cents in taxes was due.

In police court yesterday Mr. Elliott admitted all the facts as set forth in the charge against him.

When the case again comes before the court it will be for the purpose of argument by counsel.

A. C. Desbrisay is appearing for the prosecution and M. B. O'Dell has been appointed by Mr. Elliott to handle the argument for the defence.

In court Mr. Elliott declared his intention of attempting to prove the Hospitals Aid Act ultra vires.

SEEKING MEN FOR CABINET

Premier Desires to Improve Personnel Rather Than Fill Portfolios

Formally Accepts Resignation Tendered By Hon R. W. Bruhn

Premier Tolmie has formally accepted the resignation of Hon. R. W. Bruhn as Minister of Public Works and in a lengthy reply to the cabinet minister repeats his proceeding with his plans to form a union government and is looking for suitable material for his cabinet.

Premier Tolmie states it is his idea to improve the personnel rather than simply to fill the portfolios and express surprise that Mr. Bruhn does not find the government platform one that he can support.

The Premier's reply follows:

"Dear Mr. Bruhn:

"I have received with regret your communication of the 27th instant tendering your resignation as Minister of Public Works, and I have forwarded it to His Honor with my recommendation that it be accepted.

"I wish to thank you for your kind remarks in your letter concerning our long personal friendship and trust that this will always continue.

"You refer in your communication to my acceptance of the policy of Union Government. This was not as a result of the action of any particular individual but was decided on only after a very thorough investigation of the situation and after consulting the members of the Conservative Party in the House, and many very responsible citizens. I also consulted many prominent Britishers, whom I met at the Economic Conference in Ottawa last summer, with regard to the success that the Union Government was accomplishing in the Old Country. Being impressed with the fact that there was a very strong feeling throughout the province in its favor, and that it would perhaps meet the condition of depression better than any party-line government, my announcement was made.

"Nobility can say I have not made honest efforts to accomplish this by approaching the leading parties and private individuals. In my efforts to secure material for the Cabinet, I have always done so with a view to improving the personnel rather than simply to fill the portfolios.

"However, in none of my statements did I confine my promises to bring about complete reorganization of the Cabinet by a specific date. Under present disturbed conditions this would be an impossibility and an unreasonable request to make of any Premier. In my statement before the executive of the British Columbia Conservative Association in Vancouver on April 22 last, when referring to certain changes in the Cabinet, I made my position in this regard very clear, as follows:

"This reduction in the number of Cabinet ministers does not indicate that the door is closed to further changes. I am planning other changes before the next election and I intend to leave the door open so that if opportunity offers I may be able to secure the very best material available in forming a government. After the election, if the government is successful, we will no doubt have some new members. The whole situation will then be reviewed and if, by any further changes, the government can be strengthened then I propose to follow that course."

"In view of the above I consider it unreasonable to expect me to close my Cabinet at this date. Negotiations are being carried on at this moment. We are at present securing candidates in support of the Unionist Party; I do not see how you can state that we are lacking general support. In fact I would like to know what party can say that they have general support under the present chaotic political conditions in this province. Only an election can prove that and we propose to nominate candidates and to vigorously fight the campaign and let the people decide.

"With regard to your reference to my statement of September last to the effect that the leadership be decided by the elected members supporting Union principals, and your assertion that this has apparently been abandoned entirely, I made this statement on September 17 and I have not publicly made any statement in opposition to this since that time. As far as I am personally concerned I am out for stable government with honest and economical administration for our province, rather than an ambition to be elected or to lead any 'certain group.' I was rather astonished to hear that you are not entirely in agreement with the platform which was recently announced. You will remember several meetings of council were held in connection with the creation of this platform. Many were consulted with regard to the various planks. You took part in several of these meetings and in their discussions and offered some valuable suggestions. It is true that you were not here when the platform was finally adopted and made public, but it could hardly be expected, in view of a strong demand for our platform, that it should have been withheld for that reason. Since that time although still a member of the government you have not at any time criticized the platform to me or suggested a 'more vigorous and progressive programme.' Let me point out that this platform is not the product of the Premier but the product of the Cabinet in which each and every member participated.

"You say in conclusion that 'out of the election I trust will emerge a real union of men willing to abandon personal ambition, ready to work together for the good of the province as a whole, regardless of party.' It was with this thought in view that my announcement was made in Vancouver on April 22 last. Under these circumstances I consider it unreasonable to expect that I should complete the Union Government forthwith.

"Yours faithfully,
S. P. TOLMIE."

MEMBERSHIP BASIS CHANGE DEBATED BY ROTARY LEADERS

SENT BOMBS TO U.S. PRESIDENT

Joseph Doido, twenty, above, of Watertown, N.Y., told police he had sent two crude bombs to President Roosevelt "just for fun." Police found the bombs in the Washington and Watertown post offices. They were traced to Doido.

Boston, June 29.—The delegates to the Rotary International convention here to-day gave attention to a lengthy list of Rotary legislative matters, some involving extensive changes in the administration of the international organization.

One proposal would change the basis of membership in a Rotary club, to broaden the qualifications so that a member of ten years' standing would become a "non-classified" member, making it possible for a club to elect to membership another man of the same line of business or profession. Heretofore, only one man of each vocation (with the exception of a business associate) has held membership in a Rotary club.

The proposal to permit the organization of more than one Rotary club in large cities came up again for consideration. Several proposals were submitted to reduce the dues which each Rotarian pays to carry on the work of the international organization.

LANGUAGE QUESTION

One proposal submitted by the board of directors would authorize the board to bring about or at least to further the organization of a world conference to determine what language should be used universally as an auxiliary language; and to develop a plan to encourage all countries officially to prescribe or recommend the teaching of the chosen auxiliary language in schools.

At least a score of languages are represented in this Rotary convention, although the chief discourses are given in English, except in the special group assemblies, as, for instance, the Latin-American assembly, where the language is Spanish. Rotary magazines in different parts of the world are now being printed in ten different languages.

The extraordinary internationality of Rotary—nearly eighty different countries or geographical areas have Rotary clubs—has made the language barrier a problem of increasing interest and has brought out forcefully the difficulty of developing a closer world harmony because of the evident inability of nationals of various countries to even read the periodicals of other countries.

JOHN NELSON AS ROTARY'S LEADER

John Nelson's election as president of Rotary International will cause much gratification in Victoria where he spent a considerable part of his early manhood, first as a member of the editorial staff and later as managing director of The Times. He has been active in Rotary work for some years, his initial association with that organization being established during his residence in Vancouver. On moving to Montreal he amplified his Rotarian activities, eventually becoming an international officer and as such discharging his duties far and wide with characteristic energy and ability.

Rotary International is a world-wide organization, with branches in even more countries than are represented at the present conference in London. Its annual conventions are attended by delegates who include the pick of the citizenship of the various nations and races where branches exist, and the organization, therefore, has become an in-calcuable factor in the promotion of a better understanding between the peoples of the earth.

No doubt it is this opportunity for high public service which accounts largely for Mr. Nelson's active interest in Rotary, because in other aspects he has long been interested in the field of international amity. He is one of the founders of the Institute of Pacific Relations, and is an honorary secretary of the Canadian Institute of International Affairs. His interest in that direction has required him to travel extensively in Europe and Asia as well as on this continent.

We can unreservedly predict for Mr. Nelson a successful year of office and for Rotary International a gratifying record of achievement under his leadership.

CURRENCY STABILIZATION PROBLEM CREATES CRISIS

France, Switzerland, Holland and Belgium—known in World Economic Conference circles as the "gold bloc"—have presented an ultimatum to Premier MacDonald which amounts to a demand that Great Britain stabilize the pound sterling at its present value or run the risk of these four nations withdrawing from the London gathering altogether. Britain is also asked in this ultimatum to lend the aid of the Bank of England in maintaining the gold standard in those European countries where it now obtains. It is also understood that the document presented to the British Prime Minister contains a time limit in which to comply with the demand.

Banking officials and governmental representatives are conferring on this new development; but as far as can be learned, as this is written, the British authorities have informed the gold foursome that if the United States will stabilize the dollar, Britain will deal with the pound sterling. On the other hand, however, experts are inclined to the view that the pound sterling would find it difficult to keep a marriage contract with the franc even if Britain should comply with the requirements of the ultimatum. They point out that the rapidly falling United States dollar would force a divorce.

The first demand in respect of stabilization came from France. It was a plea for the stabilization of the pound sterling, the United States dollar, and the French franc. From the outset, the United States resolutely refused to entertain the proposal, and the Washington government has not changed its mind. Great Britain was non-committal, but obviously refrained from taking any definite stand in opposition to the United States. Her position in the meantime has been that she would do nothing until the whole situation could be clarified. The European "gold bloc" began its campaign to force the issue by trying to persuade Great Britain to act independently of the United States by stabilizing the pound sterling with the currencies of the European nations will on the gold standard. The ultimatum presented this morning, with its reported time limit, is the latest development. The threat of four nations to withdraw from the conference if their demands are not met looks ominous at the moment; but no doubt some form of compromise will be arrived at in order that extreme measures may be avoided.

European nations on the gold standard, of course, realize that their trade is at the mercy of currency fluctuations, particularly those of the United States dollar. As its value drops, so will the neighboring republic be able to sell more, while its own curtailed buying will hurt only those of its customers who continue to sell on the gold basis. It is but natural, therefore, that the United States is in no haste to relinquish what advantage may accrue to it in trade on account of its depreciated money. In this respect it is merely following the example of Britain, and desires to reap benefits similar to those Britain reaped while the pound sterling was at a heavy discount, compared with the United States dollar.

As the pound sterling has risen—and continues to rise—the advantage Britain has been enjoying in the matter of export trade has declined and is declining accordingly. Such fluctuations in currency values as may take place within the next day or so may influence Britain's policy in regard to stabilization. It is natural, however, that each national government should endeavor to make the best terms it can in the interests of the people for whom it acts. As far as Canada is concerned, the improvement in the economic situation is undoubtedly a reflection of the betterment of conditions which are developing next door, and nobody in this country desires any interruption of the process, no matter what the world conference may do about it.

MR. DICKIE IS OUT ON HIS FACTS

Nanaimo Conservatives were told the other night by Mr. C. H. Dickie, M.P., that as the United States refused to deal with Canada, Mr. Bennett went to London soon after he took office. The result of that visit was the empire conference at Ottawa, and, the speaker said, trade within the empire increased.

Mr. Dickie did not say that before Mr. Bennett went to London in 1930 he increased the tariff on many articles which Canada had been importing from Great Britain, which placed the British exporter at a disadvantage and, of course, had the effect of curtailing British purchases from this country.

If Mr. Dickie will refer to the summary of the Trade of Canada for April, issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, he will find that this country's business with the rest of the empire for the twelve months ending last April was worth $340,984,525, compared with $362,212,948 for the year ending April, 1932, or a decline of $21,228,423. For the fiscal year ending March 31, 1930, the last full year of the regime of Mr. Mackenzie King, the value of Canada's trade with the rest of the empire was $632,353,972, nearly twice the value of the present exchange.

The Times has said repeatedly that it is too early at this stage to dogmatize on the treaties entered into at Ottawa last summer, notwithstanding the rosy predictions that within a few months these agreements would effect a restoration of prosperity.

DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE TAKES A THREE-MONTHS HOLIDAY

For considerably more than a year, with occasional adjournments, the Disarmament Conference has been in session at Geneva. There have been times when it looked as if the delegates would throw up their hands in despair of anything ever coming of their deliberations. A complete fiasco has been avoided by the intervention of new proposals or by extraneous developments. It has now been decided to adjourn further meetings until October 10.

It is apparent that the conference to date has achieved practically nothing. It has examined dozens of proposals, delegates have proclaimed the desire of their respective nations for peace and disarmament. They have discussed the mechanism of death-dealing implements in the minutest detail. They have decided that if human beings are to be killed by tanks, they must be tanks of a certain tonnage, that if they are to be poisoned by gaseous fumes, there shall be a specific type of bomb to perform the deed. They have wasted much time on the discussion of rules and regulations for warfare of the future as if it were a hockey game or a football match. They have talked and talked; but if any delegate had the temerity to suggest that the nations disarm he was glared at as if he had taken leave of his senses.

The Disarmament Conference has been petitioned by international associations of veterans of all nations imploring real disarmament. Yet, while the delegates have been talking, arms have been going in large quantities from various nations to Japan and China, to Bolivia and Paraguay, to Peru and Colombia. But the best the conference can do after its interminable talk is adjourn for three months—to avoid having to confess failure in the hope that something will turn up in the meantime.

While the peoples of the world who have to pay for wars and suffer through them will be dismayed at the failure so far to do anything practical, the armament trust will rub its hands with glee and offer up a fervent prayer for bigger and better wars. It will no doubt offer up thanks, too, for increased business during the period of the conference sessions. It has had three wars to look after.

Mr. C. H. Dickie, Conservative M.P. for Nanaimo, says it is a pity the old Conservative name has disappeared from provincial politics. If Mr. Dickie should repeat that expression of regret at the picnic on Saturday, he might make a number of local Conservative leaders, who now call themselves Unionists, rather uncomfortable. Outwardly Mr. Dickie appears to be the only prominent Conservative left on Vancouver Island.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

WHY ACCIDENTS HAPPEN

The Winnipeg Free Press

In the urban centres the pedestrians have rights which must be respected, but accidents constantly occur because pedestrians are careless or absorbed when crossing the streets. For their own safety they must develop eternal vigilance and caution.

The fatalities and injuries are not inevitable. That is the fact to recognize. Totaled up, these accidents are a ghastly story; they are also ghastly evidence of human lapses of one kind or another, and of the need of a sustained effort to inculcate habits of safe driving and safe walking.

LAVALLEE COMES HOME

The Montreal Star

It is a fitting and proper thing that the body of Calixa Lavallee should be brought back for final repose in his own city and among his own folk. Lavallee and Routhier between them have given to Canada one of the finest national anthems in the world, but it is no disparagement of the latter to say that Lavallee's contribution was the greater. Without his music the Routhier version, adequate as they are, would have been nothing more than a fine patriotic poem which would in time have had its place in an anthology. Lavallee gave them music with a quality of reverent exaltation, a majesty and a sonority in it that will make the song last as long as the nation. Whatever else he may have accomplished in a brilliant but too short career, his music for "O Canada" was an immortal gift to his country. It is deplorable that he had to leave Canada for that recognition and support that he needed, even as did perhaps our greatest poet, Bliss Carman, but we can be thankful that, as in Carman's case, Lavallee's bones will come back home at last to rest among those who, however late, will pay them honor.

A THOUGHT

Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts; and let him return unto the Lord, and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon.—Isaiah 55:7.

Repentance is not so much remorse for what we have done as the fear of the consequences.—Rochefoucauld.

Loose Ends

Mr. Beak's strategy assures Mr. Waffle of everyone's vote—though Mr. Waffle objects stubbornly to being a Holstein—and feels that an expenditure of $8 is a bit too high for one election—but is mollified after holding a few with the boys.

By H. B. W.

GROOMING

THE GREAT project of grooming Mr. Wallace Z. Waffle for the nomination of the Conservative, Liberal, Loyal, Radical, Left, Right and Centre Party, commonly known as the Blossom Movement, has been taken in hand by Mr. Beak. Mr. Waffle, he finds, will require a good deal of grooming before he will be ready to accept our nomination and subsequently the premiership of the province.

"What you've got to do," said Mr. Beak, "is to mix around with the people—distribute yourself about so folks will see you."

Mr. Waffle said he wasn't much of a hand at distributing himself, but he made a start by attending a whist drive in the hall at the crossroads. After an evening of intensive distribution he reported to Mr. Beak next day that he had lost seventy-five cents at whist, and that he hadn't known politics were going to be so expensive when he went into them. He couldn't keep up the campaign at this rate, he said.

"You'll get it all back when you get elected," said Mr. Beak. "You'll get $1,600 a year as a member and another $7,500 or so if you're premier."

"I'd be a premier," said Mr. Waffle, who thinks quickly. "Well, I see by the papers that a fellow who is runnin' for parliament in Cowichan says as 'ow 'e'll give all 'is salary to charity, except what he needs for 'is personal expenses.' We're going to announce that you'll do the same. That'll be worth a thousand votes at least," said Mr. Beak.

"Where do I come in—do you think I'm going to do all this work for nothin'—runnin' around to whist drives and takin' my hat off to winnin' and everythin'?" asked Mr. Waffle. "Don't worry," said Mr. Beak, "before you start to finger what you give to charity, you finger your expenses. Well, your expenses will be good and high—probably $1,500 or so."

"That ain't so bad," said Mr. Waffle, much relieved. "I don't mind giving all that's left to charity so long as there ain't much left. I guess we could pad the expenses out to $1,500 or so in a good year, eh?"

STRATEGY

THE NEXT step in Mr. Beak's campaign to popularize Mr. Waffle was to enlist his chickens behind a more effective fence, for up to now they have been running at large and annoying all the neighbors who have gardens. By this stratagem Mr. Beak was confident that Mr. Waffle would secure the gardeners' vote at our convention and at the election later. Mr. Waffle protested against the plan, saying it was too expensive, but he fixed the fence. He also fenced in his cows, which had a habit of wandering all through the neighborhood—browsing on people's perennial borders and rock plants.

"It's all right," Mr. Beak explained, "you'll get 'em back again as soon as the election is over." "I only hope the government will hold the election by the time the grass is long again in the fall so the cows can graze on the roadside," said Mr. Waffle. "This here politics is gettin' to be kind of a nuisance like."

Mr. Waffle had still greater sacrifices to make for his country. The profound Mr. Beak had discovered that the grave issue dividing the farmers of our district is the relative virtue of the Jersey and the Holstein cow. There is a good deal of bad blood between the Jersey men and the Holstein men and Mr. Waffle unquestionably had antagonized the Holsteins by his rather blatant support of the Jerseys. He was known to have said at the North Saanich fair last year that he wouldn't take a Holstein around the place, dead or alive, and that he would live and die a Jersey. He was a Jersey still, and proud of it. The Holsteins have long resented this affront. Mr. Beak felt sure they would lie in wait for any Jersey like Mr. Waffle who sought election, and show at the polls that the dignity of a Holstein is not to be treated lightly.

SACRIFICE

MR. BEAK is a man of quick decisions and direct action. He went to Mr. Waffle and told him bluntly that he needed the vote of the Holsteins. He must buy himself a Holstein. Mr. Waffle said he would first see the Holsteins in a place further than the North Saanich fair.

"No Holstein," said Mr. Beak, "no nomination." Mr. Waffle stuck gallantly to his principles. No Holsteins, said Mr. Waffle. But when Mr. Beak referred to the $1,600 indemnity paid to members of the Legislature and observed that it would buy a good many Jerseys, Mr. Waffle reluctantly consented. He would acquire a Holstein, but only a little one, a three-month-old calf, of the male sex so that there would be no offspring. He said he would do his duty, but he never expected to see himself a Holstein, he who had always been so loyal a Jersey.

"You'll pass for a Holstein any time," said Mr. Beak vaguely. "Well, I'll shoot that Holstein critter the day after the election," Mr. Waffle insisted. "I'm a Jersey, mind that, a Jersey."

"Yes, you look like a Jersey," said Mr. Beak.

WOMEN'S VOTE
 BUT THAT was not all. Mr. Beak, on analyzing the situation, had calculated that Mr. Waffle must secure the women's vote if he were to succeed. Somehow, he told Mr. Waffle, we must get the women's vote.

"By gosh, I've spent enough on this election already," said Mr. Waffle. "I'm out $8, not counting the Holstein."

Mr. Beak explained, however, that his plan for snaring the women's vote would cost little. He proposed merely that Mr. Waffle start going to church regularly. Mr. Waffle sighed dismally.

He said if he had known what he was getting in for he would never have become a politician.

"Ave you ever bin in a scandal?" Mr. Beak asked anxiously. "There's nothin' scandalous 'bout the wimmin's vote than a scandal."

Mr. Waffle didn't think he had ever been in a scandal. He had got a little tight one time at a Jersey breeders' picnic and had been fined for shooting a pheasant out of season, but he thought the morals live the race overnigh. Mr. Beak agreed that if Mr. Waffle attended church regularly until after the election it would go a long way towards blotting out the past. Mr. Waffle hoped the election wouldn't be delayed long.

THE BOYS

ON THE other hand, Mr. Beak felt that Mr. Waffle couldn't afford to disregard the free-and-easy vote of what he euphonically called "the boys." The boys, it seemed, wanted a candidate of their own sort—not too sure and prime like, who could take a drink with a fellow and perhaps buy a round or two for the crowd. To impress the boys Mr. Beak and Mr. Waffle decided to adjourn to a tavern not far from here and host a few beers, purely in the interests of our great movement.

Mr. Waffle objected to the expense but Mr. Beak explained that this was a legitimate campaign expenditure which would properly be charged up to the party's fund, which then stood at $7.75. To this Mr. Waffle agreed with alacrity and admitted that he was a bit thirsty after all.

Well, by the time Mr. Beak and Mr. Waffle had impressed the boys, and bought a few rounds of beer for them and showed that they weren't too prime and proper, and intimidated that Mr. Beak if elected, wouldn't attempt to stop the morals live the race overnigh, most of the $7.75 had disappeared. Mr. Beak said it had been well spent in the interests of our great movement. Mr. Waffle agreed and they came home arm in arm, singing "Sweet Adeline."

But unfortunately Mrs. Glumby saw them marching down the road and we fear that her scurrilous tongue may lose Mr. Waffle as many votes among the women as we gained among the boys through the magnificent strategy of Mr. Beak.

Mr. Waffle said he would repair the damage by going to church the very next Sunday, and he sang another verse of Adeline. Mrs. Waffle phoned Mr. Beak to say that she had been compelled to milk all the Jerseys that night by herself, and if politics were going to be like this, Mr. Waffle could be considered out of the race, whatever happened to the country. And of our campaign fund only $1.05 remained.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

MY LITANY

This is my litany, my creed
 And all of worship I can give;
 God knows and meets my every need,
 So I have only to rejoice!

The mocking-bird upon the bough,
 His song as sweet as any sound;
 His life is in the golden now,
 His gift is music all day long.

The joyous child, content, serene
 Within his mother's clinging arms;
 Could it conceive what fear might mean
 Or quell before the threat of storms?

I am a singing bird, a child
 Of this world's strife and sorrow;
 Though ways be rough and winds be wild,
 My strength will for my day endure!

This is my creed, my litany—
 All that I pray for that I can voice;
 God lifts my burdens up for me,
 So I have only to rejoice!

Twenty-five Years Ago To-day

The Victoria Daily Times, June 29, 1908
 (From The Times Files)

Weather Forecast—Victoria and Vicinity—Light to moderate winds, generally fair and warm.

The old days of St. Ann's Convent and Academy were recalled once again on Saturday night at the closing events of the golden jubilee celebrations, by the several speakers who attended the last function of the memorable event. H. Dallas Heilmann, E.C. D. W. Higgins, Frank Sehl and Judge Harrison.

It is possible that Victoria may see some championship tennis within the next few days, for Norman Brooks, the world's champion tennis player, will arrive here on the Canadian-Australian steamship due on Wednesday and an effort will be made to get him to stop over long enough to play Bernie Schwengers, champion of British Columbia.

Miss Walker's crew on Saturday afternoon at the James Bay regatta were the winners over Miss Wilkerson's four and won a smartly pulled race by the matter of three lengths in very fast time. The race was scheduled from Sehl's Point to the boat house and from the word "go" proved a very earnest contest.

Clipping seven minutes from her best previous performance, the crack flyer Princess Victoria yesterday covered the distance between this port and Vancouver in three hours and twenty-five minutes and has hung up a record that has set shipping men on the Sound talking.

GARBAGE

To the Editor:—Cannot something be done regarding the disgraceful neglect of emptying the garbage? In the Fairfield district the refuse is not taken but once in two weeks, consequently the time and all other receptacles are overflowing.

Particularly in summer time this condition is positively disgusting, not mentioning unsanitary and a menace to public health. The odor is very obnoxious.

No wonder tourists from other states have to remind us of some of our lacking. Believe the men on duty for same have been cut down. Why not cut out some of the high-priced men instead of taking men who need the work of such useful occupation.

Something should be done, and the garbage emptied at least one day a week.

OUR BEACHES

To the Editor:—The way refuse washes up on the shores is mismanaged. From the incoming and outgoing steamers much is thrown overboard, adding to the litter on the beaches. There is no way to overcome the main difficulty as long as the city authorities are compelled to do the work by towing and dumping off shore. The coast from Ogden Point to Cadboro Bay will catch much that is floating in any part of the Strait of Juan de Fuca or Haro Strait. As proof, only a short time since, a boom of logs broke loose many miles away on the coast.

SUPPLEMENTARY EXAMS ARRANGED

Pupils in Saanich Who Cannot Write Entrance Exams Owing to Sickness Accommodated

Supplementary examinations for Saanich pupils who are unable to write their entrance examinations will be arranged by the Saanich School Board. It was decided yesterday evening. The board unanimously supported a resolution requiring all school principals to forward names of any such pupils unable to write because of illness.

The resignation of Miss Hilda Huddstone, a teacher at the Tillamook School, who is leaving to be married, was received with regret by the board. The trustees forwarded their best wishes for her future happiness.

A letter from Dr. David Newman informed the trustees that the mild epidemic of scarlet fever which has been prevalent in some of the schools was now under control.

SCHOOL HEAD RECEIVES GIFT

Duncan, June 28.—At the closing exercises of the Duncan Consolidated School Tuesday, Roy Haines, on behalf of Division 1 and 2, presented J. N. O'Neill, the principal, with a gold-mounted Parker pen as a token of their good wishes. The accompanying note wished him every success and happiness in the future. Mr. O'Neill expressed his appreciation of the gift.

The Women's Auxiliary of the Duncan United Church held its annual garden party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Colbourne Tuesday afternoon. The Martha circle took charge of the eat arrangements. Mrs. T. C. Robson, president of the Women's Auxiliary, had general supervision.

FLIES ARE BABY-KILLERS

One solitary house fly, allowed to settle on a piece of food, milk, a baby's comfort, can deposit germs that will kill a little baby. Last year, at the Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto, it was proved conclusively, after intensive research, that the invisible poisonous specks deposited by flies are responsible for "Summer Complaint" or Infant Diarrhoea, which takes toll of hundreds of infant lives during the summer months. The common house fly is also the cause of typhoid, diphtheria, dysentery and other deadly ailments.

With hot weather flies arrive and once here they start to breed and get in their deadly work. Doctors tell us that just as malaria is combated by destroying mosquitoes so can infant lives be saved by destroying flies. Ordinary precautions such as protection of food, screening doors and windows, covering breeding places, etc., are not enough. All the flies must be killed for absolute safety. One of the simplest ways to effect this is to use Wilson's Fly Pads in the house during the summer, two or three hours every day. The pads, kept moist every day, on porch or veranda, will also kill flies which might otherwise enter the house when screen doors are opened. When it is so easy to combat this menace there is no reason why, with a little care, the risk to human life should not be reduced to a minimum.

TO AVOID MISTAKES WITH BABIES

St. Luke Hospital authorities in Montreal now resort to the foot and fingerprint system to effect positive means of identification for new-born babies. The top shows Nurse Blanche Rioux taking the footprint of Baby Nicole Tribert, just a few minutes old, which will be placed in the same sheet as her mother's fingerprint. The left photo shows the baby's footprint and the mother's fingerprint on the mother's chart. These charts are kept in the institution's vaults.

Mrs. J. Phethean Will Direct Women's Auxiliary to Jubilee Hospital For This Year

Interesting Reports Were Read at Annual Meeting Yesterday

By acclamation Mrs. J. Phethean was elected to fill the position of president of the Women's Auxiliary of the Jubilee Hospital at the annual meeting which was held yesterday afternoon in the Nurses' Home.

In the same manner were the following officers in the auxiliary filled: First vice-president, Mrs. H. Griffiths; second vice-president, Mrs. Cecil French; treasurer, Mrs. Guy Sheppard; secretary, Miss M. Curry; convener of food, Mrs. Phil Taylor; convener of sewing, Mrs. J. L. Crimp; convener of buying, Mrs. Angus McKeown, with the following on the executive: Mrs. J. J. Collison, Mrs. M. J. Robson, Mrs. E. J. Robertson, Mrs. R. F. Green, Mrs. Jaffray, Mrs. G. R. Robson, Mrs. R. H. Oliver, Mrs. Henry Heisterman, Mrs. Vaughn Roberts, Mrs. Herbert Pendergast, Mrs. P. Dillabough, Miss Bryant, Miss Carrie Hall, Mrs. C. C. Hole, Mrs. David Scott and Mrs. Aaron Reid.

In her presidential address, Mrs. Hermann Robertson, who has been acting president since Mrs. Chambers moved to Vancouver, said: "I would like to stress the point made at the board meeting that we all try to combat the people who are talking against the hospital. It seems a great pity to see a well-run hospital with a board of directors giving their services to the public, come in for so much unfair criticism when it is all boiled down, the charges do not amount to anything but a few disgruntled people trying to get all they can for nothing. We must all remember that we, the taxpayers are helping support the hospital, and it is for us to see that it gets fair treatment or we are going to suffer."

Regret was expressed by Mrs. Robertson at the loss of Mrs. Chambers who had moved to Vancouver and who was the first graduate nurse of the Jubilee Hospital to fill the office of president of the Auxiliary. Tribute was also paid to the memory of the late Mrs. Rhodes, who for twenty-five years directed the activities of the organization and whose work had been greatly appreciated by all connected with the hospital.

SECRETARY'S REPORT

Mrs. M. Curry in her report as secretary of the Auxiliary stated that there was a membership in good standing of 361. Among the many activities during the last year were the tea given in the Nurses' Home, the annual linen shower when the girls totaled 1,006 pieces, the unveiling of the plaque by the Lieutenant-Governor to the memory of the late Mrs. Rhodes, the annual tag day, as well as the work carried on weekly by the members of the sewing circle. Regret at the passing of Mrs. J. K. Unsworth was expressed by Mrs. Curry.

JUNIOR W.A.

A report that brought forth applause was read by Miss Mary Campbell of the Junior W.A. to the Jubilee Hospital. The membership of which numbered 150, thirty-nine members having joined during the last year. Among their activities had been supplying the Pink Room with necessary linens, a dance which netted them $190.36, and the sale of the new green for their work, sale of return tickets

GARDEN PARTY TO AID LEAGUE

Local Branch of League of Nations Society Will Hold Fete July 19

The executive committee of the local branch of the League of Nations Society in Canada has decided to hold a garden party on July 19.

The setting of what promises to be one of the leading social events in July will be the beautiful grounds of Windyhaugh, 1968 Fairfield Road, the use of which Mrs. J. Hadden Gillespie has very generously given the society for the occasion.

The ladies of the committee and members of the society are already busy with plans to provide an attractive programme.

The society urgently needs funds in order to enable it to carry on its work of educating public opinion to an active support of peace through the League of Nations.

Mr. Baldwin once said: "The life blood of a modern government is public opinion." We cannot expect our government to give us peace—to firmly oppose the forces of destruction, armament firms and the like, unless we definitely show them that we really and truly wish for peace.

All those who come to this garden party will be helping the cause of world peace, and at the same time will be giving themselves an afternoon of pleasure in one of the most charming gardens in Victoria.

Reunion Held at Cloverdale

Selecting of Premier Tolmie as Favorite of School Fifty-two Years Ago Recalled

In the midsummer of 1881, the "first election" of Premier Tolmie took place when he was voted by his schoolmates "Favorite of the School." To commemorate that election a group of friends gathered at Cloverdale yesterday for luncheon.

Dr. Tolmie was presented fifty-two years ago with a book in which was inscribed the names of the donors on the fly-leaf. This is one of his valued possessions to-day.

The inscription is as follows: "It is with many pleasant memories recurring to us, that we, the following ex-High School scholars, embrace a favorable opportunity to present this volume, as a slight token of our appreciation of merit, to one, who, we feel sure, well deserves it."

"And whenever through life the sight of this book recalls our names to your memory, do not fail to remember that we will be in the future as we were in the past."

"Your friends—Thos. H. Baker, Jno. Douglas Jr., Aaron Lewis Jno., T. Fee, David P. Fee Jr., Tudor J. A. Trede-mann, A. Lindsay, Charles H. Kent, J. H. Wark, W. J. Bullen, J. C. Newbury, Albert G. Sargison, Geo. Chadwick, Sempie."

Those who attended the reunion were T. S. McLaughlin, representing his father, the late Joseph H. McLaughlin, principal of the High School in 1881; Mrs. McLaughlin, Mrs. Marian Clark, eldest daughter of the late Mr. Offer-haus, one of the teachers; W. F. C. Pope, representing his father, the late Mr. Pope, first principal of the High School; Mr. and Mrs. H. Kent, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Sempie, George Chadwick and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Newbury.

FOOD BUDGETS

SAVE MONEY

Canadian Press

St. Anne de Bellevue, Que., June 29.—Thousands of dollars have been saved through the work done by nutritionists in the scientific budgeting of food for millions on relief in Canada, said Miss Charlotte Whitton, executive director of the Canadian Council on Child and Family Welfare at the closing exercises of the School of Household Science at Macdonald College here.

This phase of relief work, the speaker pointed out, was startlingly modern for as late as the depression of 1921-22 nutritional values had not taken into consideration the distribution of food. It was not always poverty or inadequate income that caused so much distress but often improper management of the income.

Miss Whitton added, Education by the trained worker was doing much to remedy this and she expressed the hope all social agencies would eventually seek this guidance.

To the graduates in household science Miss Whitton offered advice that they should not let themselves rust in idleness because of lack of remunerative work. Work at a pittance, if necessary, do voluntary work or post-graduate study, in order to add experience to knowledge, she counselled.

She also urged graduates not to allow the glamor of a job in the outside world to blind them to the contribution made to the home, the family and the nation by the woman who devoted herself to being a wife and mother.

During the twenty-five years of the school's existence, 2,888 students have been registered in the various household science courses, Miss B. M. Philip, head of the School of Household Science, said in giving her report. Of the 104 enrolled this year more than half came from the province of Quebec and the rest from six provinces in the Dominion, United States, Newfoundland, Bermuda and Ireland.

Miss Elizabeth Edwards, daughter of Major G. D. Edwards and Mrs. Edwards, and Miss Ruth Moore, daughter of Mrs. M. J. Moore, both of Victoria, have been students at Macdonald College this last year.

Your Baby and Mine

DIETIC INDULGENCES MAY CAUSE CONVULSIONS

Convulsions are an exaggerated symptom of the whole nervous irritability of the system when rickets is present. There are other causes of convulsions, but by and large the child who goes into a spasm easily is the child whose system is materially lacking in mineral elements, especially calcium.

SEN AND DIET

If the child has spasms for slight causes, he needs lots of air and sun, though on hot days sunbaths should be given in the early morning before the temperature has risen so uncomfortably. In addition, the mother must concern herself with what the child eats.

The careless habit of "taking a chance" on the supposition that no harm will be done, is a disastrous one for a child who reacts to any food indiscretion by developing a spasm.

The spasm begins by the child's looking rather pale and fixed and immobile. Then the muscles begin to twitch over the body, the eyes stare, and froth shows at the mouth. The spasm should be readily controlled by bringing the blood to the surface of the body.

Run hot water into the tub and test it by plunging the arm in it up to the elbow. The water should feel comfortably warm and there should be sufficient to cover the child. Put the child in the tub and rub the body briskly.

HEAT WATER

If hot water is not easily and quickly available, heat a small amount in a tea kettle, wring heavy towels out of this water and wrap them about the child. The addition of about one teaspoonful of mustard to a quart of water will help to bring the blood to the surface of the skin. Keep a cold towel about the child's head.

When the convulsive motions are ended, dry the child, cover him warmly, and allow him to lie quietly in bed. A cool enema may be counted upon to relieve the bowels of the irritating food, or a mild laxative by mouth may be given if the child is not asleep. Give nothing but boiled water to drink for a day and allow nature to end the disturbance by putting no additional burdens upon her.

Once the child has had a spasm, he is more easily the victim of another attack, because the nerves learn this pattern of complete uncontrol. The diet should be criticized and changed to make up for any conspicuous lacks. The child should be spared any dietetic orgies of indigestible foods. When fever is present, the child should be kept quietly in bed. Always consult a doctor, for a mother may confuse repeated attacks of epilepsy with ordinary convulsions, which are temporary and curable when the diet is right.

"The Sealed Trunk"

By HENRY KITCHELL WEBSTER

One of the earliest to assail him, and one of the most disconcerting, was a momentary glimpse for his own profession. Here was the material that they had gathered to make up the life story of a man; a man who had lived to be fifty years old and had devoted those years, with an extraordinary singleness of mind, to useful service. And yet, except for a few minor clippings, a casual stickler here and there regarding papers that he'd read before learned societies, studies of chemical processes, modest announcements of discoveries, the whole content of the file concerned itself with what might or might not have happened during a ride on the train from Chicago to California, whether or not an acquaintance he had formed with a girl in an attempt to relieve her apparent distress had resulted in a sexual intimacy. And, at that, the verdict of the jury had been that it had not so resulted. Yet the doubt that remained in the public mind after the verdict of the jury had been brought in had been enough to ruin the man's career, to force his resignation from the university, to drive him into hiding for the last four years of his broken life. The newspapers had done it and they had done it without transgressing their own code. The story of a college professor indicted and brought to trial under the Mann Act was legitimately entitled according to current standards to just such headlines and pictures and editorial comment as this story had received. It made Martin feel pretty sick. Well, there was no help for any body in thinking thoughts like that. They were diverted by a picture included in one of the clippings of the girl then called Clara Bowman, who had been the principal witness of the trial. She was unmistakably Clara, despite the dark hair that was piled high on top of her head.

"Rhoda," he asked, "how did you know who she was? How did you know what she was saying to Foster? We couldn't hear a sound through the glass."

A smile flickered across her face, the first he'd seen there in a long while. "I forgot," she explained. "It seemed like listening to me. I can read lips, you see. Martin, dear, don't you remember long ago at the Alhambra how I saw you ask me if I didn't want to be rescued? And you asked me afterward how I knew the exact words you said, and I laughed and told you it was telepathy? I lost some of it to-night, of course, when they turned their faces away. But whenever I could see their faces I could hear just as well as if I'd been in the room."

He sat silent for a while after that, not exactly thinking, but enjoying the savor of the term of endearment she had unconsciously used. When his mind got back on the rails he took up the kind of Foster's explanation, which he had been conscious of not straightening out at the time Foster made it.

What the old man had said about the contract seemed straight enough and squared with the facts as Martin knew them. If Rhoda's father had died, as apparently he had, before completing his discovery, it was obvious that the contract was of no value. Rhoda, though, apparently thought it was valuable. There seemed to be no doubt that it was the girl she'd been trying all along to steal. It wasn't incredible that if Foster knew he was stealing, he'd stolen it. while he waited to see whether she would rise to his bait or not. He knew the contract wasn't in the trunk. But didn't he believe that something else was, something that he wanted very much, something, perhaps, he felt he couldn't be happy without?

"Rhoda," he asked, "how did you know who she was? How did you know what she was saying to Foster? We couldn't hear a sound through the glass."

Uncle Wiggily Gets Wet

(By HOWARD R. GARIS)

"Glad to see you, Uncle Wiggily! Glad to see you!" growled Mr. Stubtail, the jolly bear gentleman, as he shuffled out of the bushes and saw Mr. Longears splashing himself with water from the brook.

"I'm glad to see you, too," spoke the rabbit gentleman. "For a moment," he went on, "I thought you might be one of the Bad Chaps."

"No! No!" laughed Mr. Stubtail, who was the father of Neddie and Beckie, the little cubs. "I'm not a Bad Chap. I just happened to be sitting here in the shade of the bushes when I saw you trying to get cool by splashing yourself with water from the brook."

"Yes, I was doing that," said Uncle Wiggily. "Just before that I watched the children splashing."

"And they liked it very much," roared Mr. Stubtail, for roaring was one of his ways of talking. Very good for talking to those who were deaf was Mr. Stubtail. They could always hear him.

"But how did you get so wet?" asked Mr. Stubtail, who was a big, square tin can that once had held gasoline.

"But it's all clean now," explained Mr. Stubtail. "All we have to do is to punch some holes, like those of a coffee strainer, in the bottom and there's your shower bath."

"But doesn't a shower bath have to be in the air over your head?" asked Mr. Longears. "You know the water has to fall out of the holes like rain. That's why it's called a shower bath."

"Of course," spoke the bear. "Well, after we get the holes punched in the bottom of the tin can I'm going to fasten it up in this tree over your head. You can stand under it and you'll get all wet."

"Fine and dandy!" said Uncle Wiggily. "But how are you going to get water into my tin can shower if it's up high in the tree?"

"I'll climb up and pour the water in with another can I have here," said Mr. Stubtail, showing the bunny a second can not as large as the first one. "I'm good at climbing trees and I can easily hold up all the water you'll need for a shower bath."

"Thanks a lot," said Uncle Wiggily. "Let's try it."

"With pointed shovels he and the bear punched holes in the bottom of the big gasoline tin. The top was cut out with a sharp stone so water could be poured in and then Mr. Stubtail fastened the empty tin on a tree branch over Uncle Wiggily's head."

"All ready now," Mr. Longears called the jolly old bear with a laugh. "Stand under your shower bath and the water will trickle out of the holes and you'll get all wet."

"I can easily hold up all the water you'll need for a shower bath," said Mr. Stubtail. "I'm better than ever with the work we did making this shower bath."

"Get ready!" said the bear called down to the bunny.

"All ready, Wig!" answered Uncle Wiggily.

"Splash! Splash! Splash!" came the water, dribbling down through the holes in the big tin can up in the tree. It made a cool sound and formed muddy little puddles on the ground. Uncle Wiggily stood in the midst of the shower getting all wet.

"How do you like it, Wig?" asked Mr. Stubtail, who was getting soaked wet and cool when all of a sudden, something happened, and if the rice pudding will take the prunes to the movies and buy them some ice cream cone, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's bang cap and how he fooled the Fox.

You like, Martin. She gave him a fearful hair-twisting little smile as she said that but she didn't straighten out without giving him a chance to kiss her.

BODY RECOVERED

Quesnel, B.C., June 29.—The body of Hugh Dickinson, miner and prospector, who was drowned in the Quesnel River when a raft on which he was conveying mining machinery downstream from Hydraulic struck a rock and capsized near Beavermouth, was recovered Tuesday at the edge of the Baker's potato garden, which is now partly submerged by high water.

TRANSPORT AND ELECTRICITY
If you attend the Century of Progress, do not miss the Travel and Transport exhibits. Among them you will find stories of the ship, the railroad, the automobile and the airplane—told by models and pictures.

"The Royal Scot"

Outside the Travel and Transport building is the "Royal Scot," a famous British train which was brought across the ocean for the fair. Compare the Royal Scot with the American train alongside it, and notice the difference. British trains are of rather small size, but I have found by personal experience that they travel very swiftly. The British take great care to protect human life. They do not allow open grade crossings. At almost every point, there are trains cross streets and roads at different levels. In the few cases where that is not so, people on the highways are protected by automatic gates. Besides, the lives of people, that system permits trains to run through cities at high speed.

of steamships in the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific service. The present period in history might be called the Age of Steel and Electricity. In the Electrical building men have brought together displays showing some of the remarkable things which can be done with electricity. A great "diorama" tells the story of water power. It shows the wheels running water and spinning turbines. It sees how power from the turbines is used to give light to houses and to turn the wheels of factories. A voice from an unseen source explains what is going on in the diorama. I enjoyed my visit to the House of Magic in the Electrical building. A scientist on a platform in the lecture hall performed many stunts with the "electric eye." He used a beam of light to make music play. By stepping in front of the light, he turned off the music. He performed a magic trick by rubbing his hand over a tube and thus taking away the light inside it. In one sense this was not a trick, but an example of the working of a scientific secret.

Overzealous Mother Risks Daughter's Chances by Excessive Praise—Should Couple Who Are Bored Break Engagement?

DEAR MISS DIX—I have been keeping company for some time with a girl who is, I think, about as fine as they come. However, her mother is constantly praising her daughter to me and telling me of her many excellent points and wonderful qualities. To hear the old girl rave one would think her daughter was a Fairy Princess and I the luckiest fellow in the world, and all this overpraise is beginning to get under my skin and make me wonder whether or not everything is O.K. with the girl and if she is as good as she looks to me. What is your opinion?

PUZZLED MAN.

Answer: I dare say the girl is all your fancy paints her, and the only trouble is that she is afflicted with a stupid and tasteless mother who hurts her daughter instead of helping her by overpraise.

There are many women who hold it to be a mother's duty to be her daughter's press agent. They sing Mary's or Sally's or Jane's praises in season and out of season. They attribute to Mary or Sally or Jane every virtue and charm under the sun with apparently the optimistic belief that they can make the general public take their girls at their own valuation.

And especially are mothers given to exploiting their daughters to men. Let some eligible youth come around and show a glimmering of interest in Mamie and the first time mother gets her ear she will tell him not only how much Mamie is admired and how many suitors she has, but what an angel she is. Mother doesn't really think she has a fault in the world, but if she has one, it is just being too sweet and amiable and unselfish.

The dear child is always thinking about everybody but herself, and just never gets angry or impatient. And she is so domestic and economical. Why, would you believe it, she just picked up the goods for that dress she has on for a few cents and made it herself. And she just has a natural turn for cooking, and he really must try a piece of the cake that she baked this morning. Really, sometimes mother thinks that Mamie should go into catering or establish a tearoom or something.

And the young man, who is perhaps himself a super-salesman and understands the technique of breaking down the sales resistance in a prospect, he means to land, and who knows that the poorer the article you have to sell, the more enthusiastic you have to lavish on it, begins to be suspicious of the real merits of the girl.

Why, if Mamie is really so desirable, does her mother have to cry her up to the skies? Why, if so many other men want her, should she be so anxious to sell the girl to him? Why, if the girl is really the light of her home and the prop of her age, is mother so anxious to get rid of her?

And he can't know that it is just because mother knows that Mamie is in love with him and wants him for a husband and she is trying to help Mamie get him and she wants to enhance Mamie's value in his eyes and she hasn't sense enough to see that she is lowering it instead of raising it and that while Mamie is all-right mother is getting her in all wrong.

Many a time I have felt like choking a mother for the bad turn she was doing her daughter by overpraising her, for many a time a mother makes her daughter ridiculous by attributing to her qualities that she does not possess, and that the sensible and honest and intelligent girl does not pretend to have. I know one girl, for instance, who is clever and witty and a good sport and a most delightful companion, but she hasn't a vestige of good looks. Homely as they come, but her mother calls attention to her lack of pulchritude by talking continually about how beautiful Sally is, what wonderfully expressive eyes, how exquisitely she uses her mouth when she talks, and so on.

And I know another girl who is fine and noble and domestic and intelligent, but she hasn't a particle of attraction for men. Never had a beau in her life. Yet her mother will sit up and without batting an eye tell you of the millions—always in distant cities—whom Elsie has refused, and that the reason she doesn't go about much at home is because the local boys are not up to her standard, and how she lives in dread of some one snatching her darling away from her.

And so it goes. Maybe every ugly duckling is a swan to its mother, but if mother is wise she lets other people discover her virtues for themselves and do the ballyhoosing about her.

DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—I have been engaged to a fellow for three years and we see no way of getting married until the depression is over, and at times we are very bored with each other. I am quite a bit younger than he, and can't stand being told when I know I can't be married for at least three more years. Don't you think that as long as we are sure of each other we ought to go out with other boys and girls once in a while? Do you believe in two people marrying if they are of entirely different nationalities?

W. N.

Answer: I think that it is always a great risk when people who belong to different races and who have been brought up in different traditions and have different ways of looking at things marry. Very few international marriages have ever turned out well, and anyway, there is enough risk in marriage without taking that chance on it.

If you and your young man have got to the place where you bore each other, the time has come for you to separate until you are more certain of your feelings toward each other. And it is a good thing you found this out before marriage. Instead of afterward, so you may thank the depression for having saved you from making a mistake that might have ruined your lives.

For, my dear child, there is no magic in the marriage ceremony that changes one's nature. If you and your fiancé have got on each other's nerves when you only see each other a few times a week, don't you see that you would bore and irritate each other still more if you were together continually, as married people are? And if you can't be tied down to him while you are engaged, how could you stand being tied down to him for life?

If you were married to him, you wouldn't find him a bit more interesting a bit more amusing. You would get along with him as you now. Quite the reverse, because husbands don't take the trouble to entertain wives as they do their sweethearts, nor are they any more willing to step out with their wives of an evening than they are with the girl friend.

Your suggestion about breaking the monotony of a long engagement by going out with other boys and girls is good. Seeing other boys may make you realize that you care more for your sweetheart than you think you do. Anyway, it will give you a chance to compare him with other men.

DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—I have a fair education and have always had a desire to be cultured and have intelligent people for my friends. I am engaged to a young man of twenty who has had only a grammar-school education and to whom Rembrandt, Shakespeare and Beethoven are only names. I want him to go to night school, to meet people, to absorb other ideas, to broaden himself. I do not want to always feel superior to him as I do now. What can I do?

GIRL.

Leave him alone in peace. Marry some man whom you consider educated. No woman is happy married to a man she looks down upon, and every man is miserable who has a superior wife who is always lecturing to him and his pronunciation and his manners. Being lifted up to a higher plane is a painful process.

Horoscope

FRIDAY, JUNE 30, 1933

Adverse planetary aspects control with benefic influences according to astrology. This is a day for careful procedure. Hasty decisions should be avoided. The morning hours may be more helpful for pulling down what has been built up than for constructive work. The wise will be careful.

Reputations, as well as business organizations may be affected by the malefic influences of the stars while this configuration prevails.

Under this planetary government men and women who are really here to find fault with governmental matters. Industry may be retarded at this time when workers must be content of the permanency of employment and employers must be aided in carrying out ambitious projects.

This is read as an auspicious direction of the stars for newspapers and those who write for them. New names are to be added to those who gain fame as correspondents. Banks and bankers are under a fortunate rule of the stars. This is an auspicious day for transacting business connected with stocks, bonds and deposits.

Astrologers again predict that speculation will make a strong appeal to American citizens and they suggest that investors try looking backward before going forward. New fortunes will be made quickly within the year, it is predicted, but the wise will build slowly and securely, if they desire to conform to the best plans for progress.

With the return of prosperity women are to enjoy a period of much happiness and love. It is to be present as silver coins in the coming months.

Most of the women of woman's year and all who contribute to the attire of girls and matrons will profit within the year, which is to restore interest in personal appearance and even intensify the desire to be attractive.

Next month is to bring many public problems and to assure to the United States a new financial leadership. It is predicted that the stock market of the world are indicated.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the signs of a year of surprise. Good fortune will be aided through the counsel of friends. Children born on this day probably will be exceedingly ambitious and determined to succeed in life. Subjects of this sign usually live the life of a conqueror, and enjoy gaining their own ends in whatever they think worthwhile.

Clyde Winwood Miller, insurance executive, was born on this day, 1915. Another who celebrated it at a birthday is Frank Augustus Miller, 1927, hotelkeeper.

Port Angeles side of the Straits. They were washed up on our shores. The steamer Pacific went down miles below Cape Flattery; there was aboard several white horses, two floated into Hornsby Bay, Beacon Hill, and portions of the steamer landed on the shore.

Bodies also came back when the steamer Callam was wrecked east of Tidal Island, and made its final plunge off Smith Island, forty miles away, portions of the steamer and one of the boats floated into Ross Bay. This is evidence that towage is not a complete remedy. The farther out it is, the more likely it is to be a complete failure.

ROSE EXHIBITS DELIGHT CROWDS

Oak Bay Society Stages Ninth Annual Show, Stirring Admiration

H. R. Beaven Wins Championship Trophy; Mrs. Macdonald's Table Notable

Crowds of flower lovers filled the Little Theatre at the Crystal Garden yesterday afternoon and evening to admire the exhibits at the ninth annual rose show of the Oak Bay Rose Society.

H. R. Beaven was the champion prize-winner of the show. He not only won the Oak Bay Municipal challenge trophy, but also the seven prizes he captured constituted the largest winnings of the day. His "Gorgeous" rose, of a peachy sunset color, with ideally curled petals, brought him the trophy.

Mrs. H. C. V. Macdonald's creation table decoration evoked the admiration of the spectators and gained for her the first prize in the decorated table competition. She artistically worked her theme out from a central basket, using A. Van Rossum burned-orange shaded blooms.

The magnificent delphiniums at the show were those of W. J. Shepherd. They were a non-competitive entry.

Lady Barnard stirred flower lovers with two grand bushes of "Ruchina." Another outstanding floral display was made by the Layritz Nursery.

Mrs. M. R. Jamieson officiated at the presentation of prizes at the close of the show.

HONORED FOR TWENTY YEARS' SERVICES TO ROTARY CLUB

Presentation Made to T. J. Goodlake at Luncheon To-day

Has Missed Only Five of Thousand Meetings Since Club Formed

For his devotion to his duties as secretary of the Victoria Rotary Club since its formation twenty years ago, T. J. Goodlake was honored by the members of the local club to-day at their luncheon at the Empress Hotel. Bill Mainwaring, president of the Vancouver Rotary Club, on behalf of the local members, presented him with a handsome desk pen and stand, suitably engraved. Capt. Goodlake briefly replied to the words of praise from Mr. Mainwaring.

The Rotary Club of Victoria to-day held its one thousandth luncheon. Of not be allowed to delay the case because if Miss Gwilt really wanted to defend her case she would find a way of getting out, even if she were not allowed to ride down on Cowichan Lake on a freight train or had to run the risk of being dived in the Cowichan River while crossing in the cable cage.

The judge decided in favor of Mr. Cameron.

Miss Donalds, "Dolly" Petticrew is celebrating her twenty-first birthday to-day. She is a native daughter of Victoria and attended local schools and business college. She is employed at the Fernwood Dairy and lives with her parents at 1624 Camosun Street.

General Sir Percy Lake is well known in Victoria as a former president of the Canadian Legion, British Empire Service League and a keen participant in all returned soldier affairs. He has a distinguished war record in the Afghan, Sudan and World Wars. During the World War he was Chief of the General Staff, Canadian Militia.

Reginald Carver, a former resident of Victoria, now in Vancouver, was a school trustee in the Esquimalt and in the Junior Chamber of Commerce before he moved to the mainland.

J. Puckey is another "Victoria" fire-fighter to celebrate his birthday this week. Mr. Puckey who has been connected with the department for a number of years was born in 1903.

Gordon Agnew is a popular member of the druggist's society in Victoria. He is the proprietor of the Fairfield Pharmacy, Cook Street. He lives at 1176 Oscar Street.

Mr. Justice Murphy in the Supreme Court in his judgment upheld the contention of Jesse Sylvester that the Sylvester farm at Shawnigan Lake was part of the partnership property acquired by the three Sylvester brothers under the partnership agreement they made at the beginning of their business career in 1903.

The action was brought by Jesse Sylvester, as the sole survivor of the three brothers, against the Sylvester widow, W. B. Sylvester, who claimed that as the Shawnigan Lake farm was held in the name of her husband it now belonged to her and the others had no interest in it. Other city property was similarly held by W. B. Sylvester died in 1931 and the second brother, C. B. died only a week ago.

R. C. Lowe, as counsel for the Sylvester brothers, asked for an injunction to prevent their sister-in-law from entering upon the Shawnigan Lake and various city properties that were held in the name of her husband. He said as the common property of the brothers' partnership in which were pooled all their interests.

Mr. Justice Murphy said he accepted the evidence of Mr. Sylvester and declared that the books of the partnership going back over the years corroborated the contention that the property was part of the partnership. He set to work to settle the details between them, with the opportunity of the case being brought up again if other difficulties arose.

Norman Whittaker conducted the defence.

Dr. O. F. Willing One of Most Colorful Golfers in P.N.W. Meet

Veteran Portlander Has Wealth of Experience Behind Him

Max Baer's Brother Is Another Fine Heavyweight Prospect

ONE of the most colorful golfers taking part in the Pacific Northwest Golf Association championship now in progress over the links of the Victoria Golf Club is Dr. O. F. Willing, veteran Portlander, and a member of one of the United States Walker Cup teams. No matter if his opponents are double figures, Dr. Willing still studies every shot, both his own and his opponent's. Though he does not strike one immediately as the dazzling player he is, one has only to follow him a few holes to learn the superior quality of his play and also to feel the great amount of golf he has at his back and call him a really is up against it.

The doctor played easily and smoothly in the qualifying round Monday and Tuesday, and his figures for the day's play without looking in the least concerned. Tuesday, Harold Pretty, Uplands youngster, made him step smartly in the morning and the doctor responded with a 69 to lead by three holes at lunch-time. In the afternoon he was out in 32, including a birdie on the fifth and a birdie two on the eighth. Probably it was only the fact that the flag in this latter hole was leaning over that robbed him of the hole-in-one. The ball trickled up to the cup, tapped the mast and rolled about four inches away.

On the first hole in the afternoon a moot question had to be decided. Pretty's drive went into the patch of woods on the right and after a search of two or three minutes, the boy went back to play another. As he was addressing his second drive, someone in the gallery found the first ball and several people started shouting at Pretty. It was too late, however, as the second ball came crashing down within a few feet of the first. The question was: Should Pretty be playing four with his second ball or two with his first?

On the advice of members of the gallery, Dr. Willing, waiting patiently for the first ball, decided to play the doctor. Dr. Willing then said it was all the same to him, and he played the first ball. As things turned out, however, it was not all the same for the Portlander, as Pretty got on the seventeenth putting, put his third in a bunker short of the green, his fourth within putting distance and holed out for a half in five.

The doctor, however, won seven out of the next nine holes and got a half on one of the others. Pretty won the seventh with a nice three after the doctor had made what he himself called a bad shot in chipping to the hole. It was during this triumphant procession to victory that the doctor showed how cautious he was. He was careful with every shot and one got the impression his brain was working hard all the time.

During the delay on the first hole, Dr. Willing was asked what he thought of the Out Bay Club and its championship ship. "Very nice," he replied. "He did not lay any emphasis on his shortness, but remarked that a wind like that on the qualifying play, makes it a four strokes difference and left the best golfers with plenty to worry about. Later, in speaking of St. Andrew's, where he and Bobby visit to England, played as partners, he stated that there was nothing to this famous course without the wind; it was flat and easy in calm weather and was a poor test."

All those who think Max Baer is a wonderful physical specimen, with his six feet, two inches and half inches of height and some 212 pounds in weight, should see Max's little brother, Buddy Baer, the infant of the family, stands only six feet five and weighs a muscular 247. There isn't any fat on him. He has the typical wide Baer shoulders, and a tremendous reach.

Even for a man of his height his arms are long in proportion to the rest of his body. His legs are also long, and the torso of this giant is rather cold, and short, but very powerful. His is a build which reminds us of Jim Jeffries, except that he is much bigger than Jeff, and broader across the shoulders.

He is in training now. When he's eighteen he will step into the ring, and the reporters who now rave over Baer's wonderful build will wonder where they ever got the idea that Max was big. Despite Maxie's apparent giddiness in the ring, there is an earnestness underneath that makes him one of the present champion, Sharkey. While Max was in training for the Schmeling bout, news reel photographers came out to the camp to get pictures of Baer and Dempsey. They set up their cameras and came over to tell Max and Jack what to say. It is an old principle of the movies that no public character is supposed to have brains enough to know what to say for himself, and if he doesn't read what the movie man has written on a sheet of paper, he is expected to repeat from memory what the newsreel reporters have told him to say. In this case the reporter had evidently heard that Max was a wisecracking fellow, and therefore, Max was told to speak some humor to the effect that Schmeling would need Schmeling's wit and would soon be as dead as the depression. Puts On Brilliant Rally To Nose Out Cliff Baker 2 Up

After Being 5 Down To Portlander At Halfway Mark Taylor Shows Courage

BLACK REACHES QUARTER-FINALS

"Scotty" Campbell, Medalist, Downs Todd 4 and 3; Egan and Willing Advance

There was a Victoria player in seven of the eight second round thirty-six holes matches in the P.N.W. amateur championship at the Victoria Golf Club yesterday, but when the stress of battle had ended late in the afternoon Alan Taylor, Oak Bay champion, was the only one left. Five down to Cliff Baker, Portland, in the morning, Taylor was farther behind than Jack Matson, Ken Lawson and Jimmy Todd were in their matches at lunch time, but the hard-hitting young player thrilled the hometown supporters as he came from behind and once again drew to his battle the biggest and most interested gallery of the day. When he holed out on the thirty-sixth hole for a birdie 3 and a 2 up victory, Taylor became the lone Capital City standard bearer in to-day's quarter-finals and with Ken Black, Vancouver, the last Canadian representative.

Entering the last eight along with Black and Taylor were Chandler Egan, Medford, Ore. defending champion; Dr. O. F. Willing, Portland; Scotty Campbell, Seattle city champion; Lee Stell, Seattle; Johnny Shields, Seattle, and Paul Murphy, University of Washington star from Seattle.

MATSON SLIPS
Held even for the first fourteen holes by Jack Matson, writing was up to him, but Pretty replied it was up to the doctor. Dr. Willing then said it was all the same to him, and he played the first ball. As things turned out, however, it was not all the same for the Portlander, as Pretty got on the seventeenth putting, put his third in a bunker short of the green, his fourth within putting distance and holed out for a half in five.

The doctor, however, won seven out of the next nine holes and got a half on one of the others. Pretty won the seventh with a nice three after the doctor had made what he himself called a bad shot in chipping to the hole. It was during this triumphant procession to victory that the doctor showed how cautious he was. He was careful with every shot and one got the impression his brain was working hard all the time.

During the delay on the first hole, Dr. Willing was asked what he thought of the Out Bay Club and its championship ship. "Very nice," he replied. "He did not lay any emphasis on his shortness, but remarked that a wind like that on the qualifying play, makes it a four strokes difference and left the best golfers with plenty to worry about. Later, in speaking of St. Andrew's, where he and Bobby visit to England, played as partners, he stated that there was nothing to this famous course without the wind; it was flat and easy in calm weather and was a poor test."

All those who think Max Baer is a wonderful physical specimen, with his six feet, two inches and half inches of height and some 212 pounds in weight, should see Max's little brother, Buddy Baer, the infant of the family, stands only six feet five and weighs a muscular 247. There isn't any fat on him. He has the typical wide Baer shoulders, and a tremendous reach.

Even for a man of his height his arms are long in proportion to the rest of his body. His legs are also long, and the torso of this giant is rather cold, and short, but very powerful. His is a build which reminds us of Jim Jeffries, except that he is much bigger than Jeff, and broader across the shoulders.

He is in training now. When he's eighteen he will step into the ring, and the reporters who now rave over Baer's wonderful build will wonder where they ever got the idea that Max was big. Despite Maxie's apparent giddiness in the ring, there is an earnestness underneath that makes him one of the present champion, Sharkey. While Max was in training for the Schmeling bout, news reel photographers came out to the camp to get pictures of Baer and Dempsey. Jack Sharkey Only Even Money Choice To Defeat Carnera

By Robert Edgren

WHAT'S IN A NAME? SWIFT BIRD (HASKELL) RAN 97 YARDS FOR TOUCHDOWN WITH KICKOFF VS. ST. LOUIS U. 1932

R. Edgren 6-29

Experts Fail to Show Much Faith in Champion For This Evening's Fight

MANY "ANGLES" TO TITLE BOUT

Carnera Will Have Sixty-five-pound Edge in Weight; Expect Crowd of 60,000

New York, June 29.—Jack Sharkey, the temperamental ex-sailor from Boston, will defend his heavyweight championship of the world against Italy's "Man Mountain," Primo Carnera, in a fifteen-round bout at Madison Square Garden's big battle bowl on Long Island to-night.

Under the stimulus of hot weather and the impetus given the fight by the success of Max Baer-Schmeling scrap three weeks ago, a crowd of some 60,000 is expected to cram the bowl and pour more than $250,000 into the coffers of the Garden, and of the Milk Fund, which shares in the receipts.

The disparity in the sizes of the contestants; Carnera's undoubtedly great improvement since Sharkey handed him an artistic lacing at Brooklyn two years ago; Sharkey's temperament, which has betrayed him into costly mistakes in previous bouts, which still had the faith jittering around in search of a favorite to-day. Sharkey rated no better than even money.

Carnera was expected to tip the scales at 269, just sixty-five pounds more than the champion. Despite his great bulk and his six feet seven inches of height, the "East Venetian" is fast and a clever boxer, lacking only a real knockout punch.

Sharkey, in perfect condition, has displayed everything he needs to defeat the crowd in his work-outs, speed, snap, confidence and a venomous punching power that has worked havoc among his sparring partners.

GOLF EVENTS ARE SET FOR UPLANDS

Match play against par will determine the holder of the trophy for the next twelve months. Three yesterday evening matches will be allowed and post entries will also be received.

Japanese ball camp, is expected to get the call for the heavy work, while Masao Kuwabara will complete the battery.

Harry Holmes, diminutive hurler for the Eagles, will in all probability be Manager Joe Casey's choice for this important struggle. Magee or Goegegan will be at the receiving end.

BILLY TOWNSEND TAKES TWO ROUNDS TO FINISH LOAYZA

NEW YORK YANKS HUMBLE DETROIT

Giants Bolster National League Lead By Dividing Pair With Pittsburgh

If Cleveland baseball fans expected an immediate right about face on the part of the Indians when Walter Johnson took over the managerial reins from Roger Peckinpaugh, they have been badly disappointed.

Of their last seventeen games, the Indians have won only seven and dropped all, except two, of their last eleven encounters. Yesterday they were victims of the rampaging Washington Senators, losing 15 to 2. Wesley Ferrell was chased from the mound with a nine-run attack in the first inning.

The Senators failed to gain ground, however, as New York Yankees came from behind to plaster Detroit Tigers with eight runs in the last two innings and win a 10 to 7 triumph. The victory still left the world champions trailing by one full game. Babe Ruth returned to the Yanks starting line-up and counted his seventeenth home run of the season.

The Philadelphia Athletics fell before the Chicago White Sox, 9 to 8.

GIANTS DIVIDE PAIR

New York Giants went on a home run hitting spree to get an even break in a double-header with Pittsburgh Pirates. The Pirates won the first game 5 to 2 but lost the nightcap 7 to 4. Boston Braves took two games from St. Louis Cardinals, 4 to 3 and 8 to 0.

Bill Jurgens led the Chicago Cubs to a double victory over the Phillies, pounding out a pair of singles in the first, which the league champions won 9 to 8, and then connecting with four more safeties, one of them a home run, in the team's 8 to 3 triumph in the nightcap.

Cincinnati and Brooklyn split a double-header, the Reds winning the first game, 8 to 1. The Dodgers squared

When Hilda Strike Defeated Alberta Flash

The race of the "century" at Edmonton recently resulted in an exciting struggle between Canada's women's sprint champion, Hilda Strike and the Alberta Flash, Beatrice Gillespie. In the above picture Hilda is seen meeting the tape with the fleet Beatrice right on her heels. Hilda finished the 100 in 112-5 seconds. This event came right after Hilda had set a world record in the sixty metre dash of 72-5 seconds. The other competitors did not compete in the short sprint and was perfectly fresh for the test pictured here. The other competitors were left far behind as these two fliers fought it out.

ROYALS ARE ELIMINATED

Beaten 2 to 1 in Overtime By Cowan-Dodson in Dominion Football Series

Vancouver, June 29.—Taking advantage of an extra man when Dick Stoddart was ordered off the field for fouling, twenty minutes after half time, Cowan-Dodson eliminated the New Westminster Royals from the Dominion soccer championship by scoring a 2 to 1 victory, after extra time, before a crowd of 3,000 here yesterday evening.

Royals lacked Coulter and Anderson, but had Strang, Kulai and Rothweiler on their lineup.

The Royals had the best of the early play, but Royals gradually settled down, and after thirty-five minutes Turner gave them the lead with a fast shot which Watkins took but failed to stop. Royals led 1 to 0 at half time.

DEADLOCK SCORE

With the second half fifteen minutes old, Royals placed a corner kick finely and although the ball was temporarily cleared, Smith swung it back to the right for Hunter to drive it past Sanford and equalize.

After Stoddart had left the field Royals tired badly, and Cowan-Dodson had most of the play, but could not take the lead, and full time arrived with the score knotted.

Five minutes after the extra session started, Dewar and McKibbin fouled Smith near the goal, and from the resulting penalty Smith put the Royals ahead.

A mid-run on his second shot and went over into the rough on the right. Thinking the ball might be unplayable he played a second shot, again with a mid-run, and got squarely on the green. He was able to play his first ball, however, Taylor, short in two, was fairly near the hole in 3 and his putt for it but missed for a half in.

At this point, Taylor was playing perfect golf and kept up his machine-like performance until the short thirty-first hole, where he again had a putt for the hole but again failed. His putt for the hole was a half in.

Both players were on the long dog's eye thirty-third hole, where Taylor again had a putt for the hole but once more a half in resulted. On the thirty-fifth hole, Taylor addressed his ball and proceeded to hole it for a half in birdie.

One up, Taylor had a shot to make from two feet to the hole. Taylor potted to play his second shot first. He put it twenty feet from the hole. Taylor approached the hole within six feet. It was a faultless shot. Baker just missed his putt and Taylor stepped up and holed out for a birdie three under the hole. Taylor was in 34, two under par.

CAMPBELL PLAYS WELL

Another fine battle which many enthusiasts missed was that between Campbell and Todd, George Vale south-paw. Campbell, who last year was semifinalist in the United States public links championship at Louisville, Kentucky, and is picked by a number of observers as one of Saturday's finalists is a pretty player and has been shooting fine golf in this tournament, in which he was the medalist.

Todd was 1 up at the end of the first nine in the morning but cracked badly coming in and was 4 down at lunch. Campbell was around in 69. In the afternoon, the twentieth hole, Campbell halved in par five and Todd got the first halved in par four. Campbell again went 4 up on the twenty-second with a par four, only to lose the next to a par four. From the twenty-fourth tee to the twenty-eighth green, Todd was even with par but this did not prevent him from losing the three holes and going down. Campbell's score for these six holes was 33323, one under three, and Todd's was 34334. Par is 4334.

Six down and eight to go did not seem to bother Todd. He kept right on fighting and carried the match to the thirty-third before going down, 4 and 3.

Johnny Shields, Washington State star, gave Victoria hopes a dampening when he accounted for Ken Lawson, Upstate star, 7 and 6. Many people thought that Ken would win the match of the day, but Ken's 7 down in the morning could not get his clubs working in the afternoon.

Other local players were more or less wiped out. Chandler Egan got so far ahead of Des Barrett that the caddies

OUR MAIL BAG

MAKES FINE OFFER

To the Sports Editor:—Being the father of several boys who are vitally interested in bicycle racing, I was very pleased to see a letter from Mr. Walker, president of the Victoria Cycling Club, urging action to secure a suitable track for racing.

It is essential in raising boys to have them engage in some healthy sport, and I feel bicycle riding is one of the best and most appealing to the average youth.

In all probability it will be necessary to make a community effort to build the desired track. So to start it off I beg herewith to offer free of charge the services of two teams of horses with drivers and any equipment needed for grading or excavating work.

I sincerely trust others may come forward with assistance, and that this much needed bicycle track may be secured as quickly as possible.

Much Lumber Shipped This Month

More Ships Due In July For Cargoes For Distant Ports

Eleven Ships in Port During May Took 6,000,000 Feet of Vancouver Island Lumber

All Lumber Activity Now at Ogden Point
Passenger Liners Will Keep Local Ocean Piers Busy This Week-end

More than 6,000,000 feet of Vancouver Island lumber were shipped from Victoria during the month of June, according to figures tabulated this morning. Ships flying the flags of Great Britain, the United States, Sweden, Japan and Norway were in port since June 1 and took parcels for the Orient, the United Kingdom and Australia. It was one of the busiest months for lumber shipments in recent years.

July again will be a good month for lumber cargoes, according to the board in the office of King Brothers, local shipping agents. The freighters Jeddington Court, Iwagawa Maru and City of Vancouver are due in the next few days, and the freighters Oakworth, Cape Horn, Nordfard, Nordpol and Masunda are due later in the month. The lumber activity keeps up throughout the summer and into the autumn, the port of Victoria will have shipped more lumber this year than for several years past.

All lumber activity at Victoria now centres at the Ogden Point piers, where the cargoes are loaded aboard the ships from flat cars right on the docks. The lumber comes to Victoria from up-island mills on the cars and remains at Ogden Point until it is needed. It is then sent on the rails alongside the ships and loaded on loading ships from scows, as was the custom here a few years ago.

ELEVEN SHIPS
 Ships at Victoria for lumber during June, and the amounts they loaded are as follows: Tempel Maru, 300,000 feet; Harpallan, 250,000 feet; Janeta, 600,000 feet; Ixion, 1,250,000 feet; Romney, 900,000 feet; Anten, 350,000 feet; Golden Coast, 300,000 feet; Aymeric, 750,000 feet; Shikisan Maru, 400,000 feet; and Benroch and Benwylis, 1,000,000 feet.

A total of 345 deep-sea ships touched at Victoria during June, the report issued by the Victoria office of the Canadian Customs Department this morning showed. Cargo landed here from overseas during the month amounted to 2,767 tons, while outward cargo amounted to 11,455 tons. Much of this was lumber.

The coming week will be a busy one at the local ocean piers with a large number of passenger liners in port. Saturday morning the Santa Lucia will be in from New York. In the afternoon the Empress of Russia will sail to the Orient and that evening the Ruth Alexander will depart for California. Tuesday morning the St. Empress of Japan is due from the Orient and Honolulu. When the Empress of Japan arrives, the Victoria office will take over a large list of passengers, including several Victorians, who have chosen this way to go to England and on around the world.

EXPRESS HEAD WILL RETIRE

William M. Gordon to Leave C.P.R. Express To-morrow After 48 Years' Service

Winnipeg, June 29.—After forty-eight years of continuous loyal service, William M. Gordon, Winnipeg general superintendent, western lines Canadian Pacific Express Company, will retire on pension to-morrow. It was announced this morning by T. E. McDonnell, Toronto, president and general manager of the Canadian Pacific Express Company, in eulogizing Mr. Gordon's services to the company for a period of nearly fifty years. Mr. McDonnell stated that a banquet would be held here this evening in his honor, which would be attended by a large number of the executive officers from the head office at Toronto and from the west. At present the position of general superintendent will not be filled, Mr. McDonnell stated.

Mr. Gordon entered the service of the Canadian Pacific Railway as a clerk at Gretna, Man., on November 15, 1885, being transferred to the Dominion Express Company, now the Canadian Pacific Express, on February 4, 1889, as a messenger. In 1898 he was made agent at Nelson, B.C., and agent at Westport, November 1, 1901. On September 1, 1906, he was made general agent at Winnipeg and three years later superintendent. On January 1, 1927, he was appointed superintendent at Vancouver and on January 1, 1929, assumed his present position of general superintendent here, from which he retires to-morrow.

RAIL TRAVEL IS IMPROVING
 St. Paul, Minn., June 29.—Passenger travel on the railways may be turning the corner towards better times, according to A. J. Dickinson, passenger traffic manager of the Great Northern. About two weeks ago travel both eastbound and westbound showed a sudden and more than seasonal increase, as compared with the last three years, Mr. Dickinson said. He said the present trend is being watched with a great deal of interest and that it is the most hopeful development in the passenger business since 1929.

While the eastbound movement can be accounted for largely by the opening of the Century of Progress Exposition at Chicago, there is a substantial part of this travel that appears unrelated to the Chicago fair, and the westbound travel is on a corresponding level with the eastbound. The Great Northern's coast train, the Empire Builder, has carried additional cars in both directions for several days. The opening of the National Park grounds and the other western playgrounds doubtless accounts for some of the westbound travel, but the fact that the pick-up occurred several days before the opening of the park season is regarded as significant.

The railways also are offering a variety of vacation inducements this season, and while these are doubtless seasonal factors, Mr. Dickinson is inclined to believe that the return of confidence and improved business conditions generally are mainly accountable for the passenger increases.

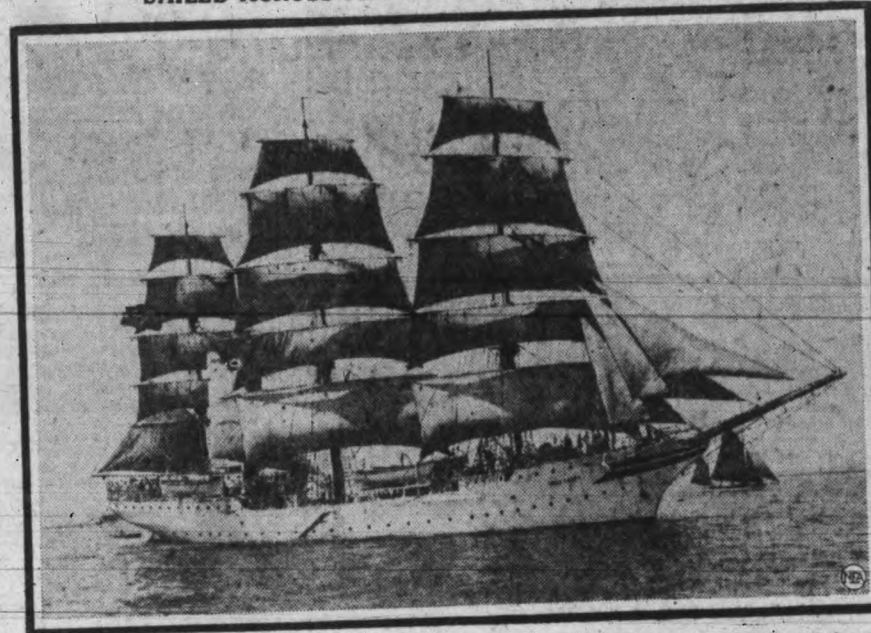

The railways also are meeting with success in their efforts to regain passenger travel from the buses between eastern North Dakota, Mr. Dickinson said. The low fares put into effect a few days ago have had a very marked effect in turning travel back to the railways, according to Mr. Dickinson.

The railways are also preparing to handle over July 4 the largest excursion crowds they have moved since 1929. Round-trip rates of all lines in the northwest have been dropped to three-fourths of the regular one-way fares in coaches and one fare plus twenty-five cents in sleeping cars, to the special low week-end fares, which are in effect from noon on Friday until Monday excursions will be run to Quilicum Beach, Shawinigan Lake, Satornia Island and Elk Lake on Saturday.

The excursion to Quilicum Beach will be the first of the season to be run to that popular resort. On Sunday, July 2, together with excursions to Shawinigan Lake, Satornia Island and Whiffen Spit, a special day trip will be made to Newcastle Island. This will be the first time an excursion to this island resort will have been made by the Coast Lines, and should prove popular to residents here.

WEATHER HOLDS ITALIAN PLANES
 Orbetello, Italy, June 29.—Adverse weather conditions over the Alps and in Germany again prevented the departure to-day of twenty-five Italian seaplanes on a cruise to Chicago by way of eastern Canada. Air Minister General Italo Balbo indicated a take-off to-morrow was improbable.

SAILED ACROSS THE ATLANTIC FROM NORWAY

The day of the big sailing ship is almost past, but A Century of Progress at Chicago has brought the first square-rigger from Europe into the Great Lakes. The picturesque craft, the Sørlandet, Norwegian naval training ship, is shown here as she slipped along under full sail into Chicago's harbor.

RUTH, PIONEER EXPECTED HERE

California Liner Bringing 65 Passengers For Victoria; Furness Ship From England

Running a full day ahead of schedule, the Furness motorship Pacific Pioneer will reach Race Rocks this evening at midnight on her way into Victoria from London and Glasgow, by way of the Panama Canal and California ports. King Brothers, local agents, will meet the ship this morning in a wireless message from Capt. H. Campbell, master of the ship.

There are seven passengers aboard. Those for Victoria are Mrs. S. St. C. Kitching and Miss E. M. Peel, returning from London. For Vancouver are Mr. and Mrs. R. G. McNamara, from England, and Mr. and Mrs. B. T. O'Connor, from London. Mr. and Mrs. Z. W. McVicker, tourists from California.

Discharging of cargo here will commence at the Rietter piers in the morning and the liner will proceed to Vancouver about noon.

There are sixty-five passengers for the Victoria aboard the St. Ruth Alexander and of the Pacific Steamship Lines, which will dock at the Rietter piers half an hour after midnight from San Diego, Los Angeles and San Francisco. A number of these passengers will transfer immediately to the inner harbor, to the board of the St. Princess Grace, which will be held an hour for the convenience of the California passengers.

A number of those disembarking here will join the St. Aleutian at this port to-morrow afternoon for an Alaska cruise.

STILL SEARCH FOR MATERN

Khabarovsk, Siberia, June 29.—Soviet guards and sailors continued to search today, but the belief grew the aviator had been forced down southwest of Khabarovsk, whence he took off for Alaska on June 18. Aviation experts believe he had not reached the Aleutian Islands and that he would not have crashed near the coast, because the visibility was good when he left here to continue his projected world flight.

COACH LINES TO HOLD EXCURSIONS

A varied choice is offered by the Vancouver Island Coach Lines for Dominion Day week-end. In addition to the special low week-end fares, which are in effect from noon on Friday until Monday excursions will be run to Quilicum Beach, Shawinigan Lake, Satornia Island and Elk Lake on Saturday.

PLANES GIVE FAST SERVICE

Possible to Leave London in Morning, Spend Three Hours at Basle, Return in Evening

London, June 29.—A striking illustration of the speed of air transport is provided by the early morning summer service to Switzerland, which was instituted by connecting with the daily return service on the same route. It makes it possible to fly to Switzerland from London in the morning, spend three hours there and return to London again that evening.

The morning departure from the Victoria Air Station is at 8:15 a.m. and the return air service at 3:45 p.m. The return air service leaves Basle at 4:45 p.m. The London Air Station being reached at 10:15 p.m. In addition to providing increased facilities to and from Switzerland, the new early morning departure from London gives an opportunity for air and rail connections to be effected from Basle with destinations in Southern Europe and Italy.

Official of Company Tells What "Hi-Octane" Means and How It Is Produced

Service station owners who will retail Richfield Hi-Octane gasoline in Victoria met yesterday evening in the Empress Hotel to celebrate the forming of the Victoria Petroleum Corporation Limited, and the first day's marketing of Richfield gasoline. R. J. Jameson acted as chairman of the meeting and introduced the speakers.

Mayor Leeming, in welcoming the out-of-town visitors, stated that both he, as a Victorian, and members of the gasoline distributing company were vitaly interested in attracting tourists to the city. He spoke briefly on the activities of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau and said that every mayor who supported its continuance was re-elected. He spoke of the advantages of the "tourist trade" to the gasoline dealer and to ordinary members of the public.

Dewey C. Rohloff, B.Sc., M.S.A.E., came as the representative of Ross B. Hall, divisional manager of the Northern Division of Richfield, and expressed his good wishes for the future of the local company. Speaking of the Richfield refinery at Watson, California, which covers 400 acres and is one of the largest in the United States, he told of the production of Hi-Octane gasoline with its "one more mile per gallon" so that it would not lose any of the beneficial qualities which should be present in a gasoline and still get rid of the sulphur and other impurities.

Explaining the meaning of "octane," Mr. Rohloff said the octane property of a gasoline is the yardstick of its anti-knocking properties. He spoke of the use of the Latham process which the Richfield Company uses to refine its gasoline and stated that by this process the use of sulphuric acid had been eliminated.

George I. Warren, managing director of the Publicity Bureau, spoke of the stations along the coast and the benefits they accrued from the company. He hoped, he said, that many of the same benefits would be given the local dealers.

At 10 o'clock the Richfield News Flashes were turned in. Sam Hayes, the Richfield Reporter, during the course of the broadcast, announced that Victoria had just come into the Richfield family and wished the local retailers the best of luck in their new venture.

R. B. Winkley of Seattle also spoke briefly. He said that importers of gasoline paid 2.1 times as much in taxes as the local refineries paid for labor. A total of nearly twelve cents in taxes was paid by the importing company.

Frank B. Wilson, manager of the contract and lease department at Seattle, spoke briefly. Victoria was one of the most wonderful places that he had ever visited he said, and Butchart's Gardens surpassed anything he had ever seen.

tion laid plans for future work, which include discussions on subjects of importance to the cause, religious, ethical and scientific. A description of the gradual development of the movement will also be rendered dramatically. Crisism from many countries, it was noted, have been directed against certain lessons appearing in the United Church of Canada Teachers' and Scholars' Manual, these being open to controversy.

Reports are looked for shortly from the London conference held for the purpose of deciding the most humane method of destroying dogs and cats.

Interesting reports have been received from the New York Conference on vivisection. Visitors to the Chicago Exhibition will find a prominent display relative to vivisection.

In all parts of the world a noticeable awakening is apparent regarding vivisection. The address of the Victoria society is 215 Sayward Building.

PET PARADE IS FEATURE

Many Entries Already Received For Children's Event
Saturday Morning

Rowing Regatta, Baseball Games and Track Meet Will Be Held Dominion Day

Hundreds of Victoria youngsters are busy these days making their pets look as attractive as possible for the big pet parade, which will be staged on Saturday morning in connection with the July 1 celebration. This event is attracting much attention and it is expected the route of the parade will be lined with thousands. There will be all breeds and shapes of dogs and cats, and other household pets, some dressed up in comic costumes, some gay with ribbons.

There will be seven sections to this parade and entries will be accepted at the assembly point at the corner of Yates and Douglas Streets. With two bands in attendance, the parade will start promptly at 9:30 o'clock and move along Yates Street and Quadra to Central Park, where the judging will take place, followed by the presentation of prizes by Mrs. David Leeming, wife of the mayor.

The children will then be invited to remain in the park to witness a baseball game between the Vancouver Asahis and the Native Sons of Canada. Peanuts, popcorn and candy will be given to all youngsters who take part in the parade.

From Central Park many of the children will no doubt proceed to the Willows grounds, where a track meet will be held, with races for children from six to seventeen years of age. One of the outstanding features at this meet will be a tug-of-war between teams from the Esquimalt schools and Oaklands School. There will be a total weight of 1,000 pounds on each side.

Another feature attraction on Saturday will be the "through Victoria race" of J.B.A.A. crews, from the inner harbor to the club headquarters at the Gorge. Several first-class crews will participate and spectators will be able to see the races from several vantage points on the three-mile route.

T. W. C. Hawkins is chairman of the celebration committee and he said yesterday every effort is being made to have Dominion Day a special day for the children of Victoria.

George Dyson Sr. has charge of the pet parade and already many amusing entries have been received, he said this morning.

20,000 Young Men

This month, 20,000 young men will matriculate from Canada's high schools and colleges. The majority will not return to school again. They will commence to earn their living only partially trained. A small percentage will enter university. In a few years they will graduate—the doctors, lawyers, and business leaders of the future.

They will possess a marked advantage over their fellows; for statistics show that the average college graduate has a much greater chance of success than the man with no specialized training.

Take this to heart, you fathers of younger boys... of little fellows just starting to school... of those still in their babyhood. Make sure now that your children will not be handicapped by lack of education.

A real start in life for your boy even in the event of your death can be assured by an Educational Policy. Mail the coupon for our booklet, "The 4 Vital Years."

WHEAT REDUCTION PLAN ATTACKED

Chicago, June 29.—The United States might face necessity of importing wheat this year if acreage reduction had been in effect, according to B. W. Snow, La Salle Street grain statistician.

Asserting, "economic necessity required that every nation have food in sight to take care of its people from starvation," Snow attacked governmental plans for acreage reduction for next season as "based on a false premise."

"The widespread crop damage already suffered," he said, "reinforces views I have previously expressed, that acreage does not determine the size of the wheat crop, or any other.

"Natural factors, sun and moisture, are the ultimate determinants whether we shall have plethora or dearth of foodstuffs."

Kincaid, Sask., June 29.—There is no need for the four great wheat growing countries, now meeting in London, to cut the world's wheat acreage 15 per cent. Grasshoppers have already done all the reducing in the wheat crop that is necessary.

So said Dr. T. F. Donnelly, M.P. for this constituency, on his arrival here from Ottawa.

Dr. Donnelly, who returned to the west by way of the United States, declared millions of grasshoppers were eating off the crop in the country to the south.
